THE STORY SO FAR: When Con Campbell arrives in Wild Horse after his first trip as a cowboy, he finds himself right in the midst of trouble. Wild Horse is controlled by Asa Brock, a real byer, who has the marshal, Dynamite, on his side. Nevil Lowe, a rancher, quarrels with Brock, and saves Lowe from being shot by a deputy marshal called "Big Macchabean." After that the town is no longer safe for him, so he hits the trail again, leaving his pal, Caramba Year, behind. At Frontiers, another frontier town, he meets Lew Welsh and his two companions, the Banterers, who invite him to dinner. But Con learns that the trio is wanted for murder, and when the Banterers kill Welsh during a quarrel, Con goes on alone toward Tivon, where Nevil Lowe has just been made marshal. Con believes Lowe will help him, since he is indebted to Con for saving his life. But when Con learns that he is desired as a partner of Welsh and the Banterers. He tries to escape, but is struck down by Lowe himself.

Now continue with the story.

CHAPTER V

"You're up Salt Creek without a paddle." "You're up Salt Creek without a paddle—and a hole in the boat! Did you really see Nevil Lowe in Wild Horse?"

"I saw him there. He was pointed out to me as a man who was on the edge of a lot of trouble."

Briefly, he told of the difficulty with Asa Brock, while Oil informed him and the others of his opinions. Her shrewd eyes scanned him steadily.

"Don't tell me you're the man that shot Lincoln, too!" Jeff said, grinning.

He began to talk of Duff Paramore and Con listened sullenly. By Jeff's account, Paramore was a gunman and horse thief second to none in the Southwest had ever known.

"When are you going to ask Lowe to let you go?" Con said sourly. "Or do you want me to ask him?"

Instead of answering, Jeff began to whistler. He shook his head when Con asked questions. The gloom of the improvised jail became dusk. The door opened and Chunky the deputy brought a Mexican waiter who carried a big tray. A wall lamp was lighted in each room. From the faty-colored Oil came caustic remarks about restaurant meals eaten with stolen money.

"When the waiter had gone, an elderly Mexican woman brought food in pots and pans for the other prisoners in the large room. She did not serve Jeff and Con. He looked at the deputy.

"Sheriff says you two can eat in his kitchen," Chunky explained. "Don't why."

"He saw the Mexican woman out, then produced a single pair of handcuffs. He locked Con and Jeff wrist-to-wrist, then unlocked the heavy, old-fashioned gyves which had chained them to the log. The two stood stretched, twisted and weary, old ahead of Chunky's drawn pistol and into a narrow hall, waited while he locked the door behind them, then descended a narrow flight of stairs.

"At the back of this adobe building was the dirt-floored kitchen, presided over by the Mexican woman who had carried food. But at a table opposite that on which two plates and cups were set, Janet Lowe kneeled down. She looked up at the two and Con kept his eyes blank as they strained to the side of her. Jeff seemed at ease.

"Hi, Janet!" he said cheerfully. "Looks like pie crust. Save me the middle, will you—with the l'il' rind of pie that goes out to the riggers on the pan?" "I'm partial to that part of pies," Con grinned. "You—she slipped into accentless Spanish as he grinned at the cook—made that pie in the marvelous aroma with your own tiny, lily hands?"

"Picnic! Rascal!" Carnacion snapped. "Compliments to a grandmother! I will not be fooled. Who is this handsome boy? Someone has made a mistake, or he would not be in el calabozo!"

"He's the boy who rode with three robbers," Janet broke in, also in Spanish. "My brother had a telegram about these men. Mariano Palafox met them, not knowing more than that they seemed dangerous and came toward Tivon. So he telegraphed them young Bernardo Hernandez met them and heard one admit that they were busqueros. He told his father, who telegraphed. So when this boy rode in, alone, he was taken."

"Con understood only a part of the rapid talk but quite enough to be uncomfortable. Jeff looked curiously at him as they ate—cuffed right and left hands on the table behind their plates. He'll identify me and prove to you by telegram that I was with his herd and couldn't have been shooting any of the men. He's sending a telegram to express messenger. And in Wild Horse, a friend of mine from the 20 Bar: William Year. Goes by Caramba. He will identify me for you. I'll pay for the telegrams."

"I've got a lot of things on my mind besides you. I can't be both here and right now, with hunting traps and cowboys I don't know. The Salado men will look you over. You can wait."

When the door had closed behind Lowe, Chunky and Topeka Tenison, Con stared grimly at it.

"What?" Con grunted, looking at Jeff. "Didn't hear you."

Four-in-One
THIS one height pattern shows you how to make four garments for your little girl! A button-front frock, overalls, rompers, and a bonnet. Each one of them cute and original in design and as easy as pie to make. Can't you see them all in a dotted swiss? A quaint calico or checked gingham trimmed with ric ric braid—can you imagine a more charming wardrobe? Useful for play hours and dress-up times both, this sew is a welcome aid to the clothes problem for small one-to-sixes.

Pattern No. 8129 is in sizes 31 to 46. Size 34, short sleeves, takes 4 1/2 yards 52-inch material.

Pattern No. 8925 is in sizes 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 years. Size 3 set requires 3 1/2 yards 35-inch material; 3 yards 1/2 for braid. Send your order to:

CLABBER GIRL Baking Powder

Galoshes should be stuffed with paper and wrapped separately when storing. The idea is to keep the rubber surfaces from touching as summer's heat will vulcanize rubber.

To wash rayons use mild, lukewarm suds, squeezing them through the material. Don't rub or wring the garment. Iron it slightly damp on the wrong side.

If cake is very hard it can be made into a delicious pudding by steaming 30 minutes in double boiler and serving hot with any desired sauce—hard, creamy, foamy or fruit.

Painting the bottoms, inside and out, of garbage cans prolongs their service.

Copper and brass utensils are dangerous to use if not kept perfectly clean. Rub spot with hot vinegar and salt, lemon rind and salt, tomato juice, thubarb juice or hot sour milk.

Sargasso Sea

The Sargasso sea, a part of the North Atlantic which covers an area as large as that of the continental United States, is unique in that it is relatively motionless and that it far exceeds in size any other water or land area in the world devoted exclusively to the growth of a single species of plant, which is a floating seaweed, says Collier's.

Incidentally, this weed is also unique because it grows at the tips as it dries at the base.

WE MAKE A BOW

In acknowledging Mr. Meadow's kind remarks in his introduction of us last week, we would like to make our bow to the folks of Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle county by expressing our reaction to some of the things which have impressed us since our arrival.

In the first place your hospitality lacks nothing. It is really top. One feels at home here from the very outset and in a letter back to the homefolks we told them that this place must be next door to Heaven because everyone seems so contented, happy and friendly here.

Your country's beauty is in natural beauty. The rolling tree-covered hills and green valleys at this season lend a perfect enchantment to the stranger, making his feet content to stay here, too. You know, these things of course, without our telling them, but we must say it anyhow. We have already covered two footleaps.

They were nobles, but Len Lumford, the local ornithologist, says they are ruckus. Why? Well, they can sing. Everybody asks us about the family - how many and how good they will be. Well, they are really good. I am a bookkeeper at the Pennington Baking Company in Cincinnati. (She is tall, dark and tolerable). Then there is Gertie, a stenographer for the U. S. Army Signal Corps at Lexington. (She is nice, short, dark and tolerable) and then there is Peko, the canine. (He is really handsome). We hope to be living here shortly.

It is our fondest hope that we can see the country left in this county by such a fine group as the Meadows family. We know the difficulty and the responsibility involved, but will try.

You are invited - We want to come in and see you. Step into our store and we will offer you some things that we think you may not deserve either, but we do like company.

Disputants

The Disputants Home Makers Club met at 10:00 at the home of Mrs. David Livallis Thursday May 28th. Those present were Mrs. Mayne Payne, Mrs. Carol Cotton, Mrs. Minnie Thomas, Mrs. Edna Moore, Mrs. Ott Fimmel, Miss Ellen Fimmel, Miss Verda Shearer, Mrs. Marjorie Moore, Mrs. Sarah King, Mrs. Elizabeth Mullins, Mrs. Sam Coffey, Mrs. Earl Hammonds, Mrs. Sherman Swinford, Mrs. Howard Langley, Mrs. J. M. Wolf, Mrs. John Miller.

The lesson was given by Mrs. Hatcher. The importance of vitamin B to our diet was stressed and emphasized. Our speaker, chairman, Mrs. Mayne Payne presented Mrs. Sherman Swinford as our speaker. The subject, "The sacrifice we should make to help bring Victory."

The following officers were selected: Mrs. Carol Cotton - President, Mayne Payne - Vice President, Ellen Fimmel, Sec and Treas, Mrs. Anne Abbey - Program, Mrs. Katharine Hammonds and Mrs. Elizabeth Mullins - Project leaders, Mrs. Coffey and Mrs. Minnie Thomas Garden leader committees, Mrs. Edna Moore - Verda Shearer Officers, Chairman Hazel Livallis, leading. Chairman Eureka Moore All reported a nice time. There were seventeen presents and 25 collection. Verda Shearer, Publicity Chairman

Let Everybody Know You're Investing 10 Percent of Your Income in War Bonds

The attractive red, white and blue window sticker, pictured above, is the new variety of patriotism in the War Bond drive throughout the nation. With the slogan, "Everybody every pay day, ten percent," the country, patriotic Americans are urged to be talking to their Government's appeal for funds which to help finance the war. The home which displays the "Ten percent" sticker is doing its share toward Victory for America and the United Nations. The stickers are being distributed through local War Savings Chairmen.

WILLIAM HARVEY HEAD
William Harvey Head, of Orlando, 24 years old, died at his home June 24 about seven o'clock.

He leaves to mourn his passing his son, Osmer Head, and daughter, Joyce Fowler, and one grandchild, Arthur Franklin Fowler.

MAMA'S BOY

You say he can't stand the Army. The life is too rough, how sad. Do you think that he's any better Than some other Mother's lad? You brought him up like a baby He doesn't smoke or drink is your brag. If all the others were like him. Well, what would become of our flag? You say he's the roughest of the fighting. They are used to beans and stew. But I'm glad I'm classed with the roughest's.

Who fight for the Red, White and Blue,
You say his girl couldn't bear to send Her sweet heart out with the rest. Do you think that she'll be proud of him
When she feels the Jap's breath on her breast.
You can thank God the stars in old glory.
Are not blurred with any such strains. Because there are ten million rough-neck's.
That carry red blood in their veins. These are to drill in bad weather.

While your darling sits down in the parlor.
And let's a man fight in his place.
You're right, we do smoke and we gamble.
But we fight as our forefathers did.
We're wearing the stars and stripes, We're not wearing the stars and stripes, We're not wearing the stars and stripes, We're not wearing the stars and stripes.

—If you are asking yourself, "How can I help?" here's one important answer. Support the USO, which gives service men a home "away from home." Send your contribution to the local USO committee.

The Livingston Lions Club at its last meeting gave $5.00 to the USO. Won't you have your club, lodge woman's organization or church or Sunday School to make a donation—small or large, we will appreciate it.

How to Display Ceiling Prices

OUR PRICE CEILING

A single poster may show the ceiling prices for a group of related items - such as dentifrices. The list should be located near the place where the merchandise is sold and should be printed in letters large enough to be clearly readable from the point of purchase.

THIS IS THE CARE OF YOUR ELECTRIC RANGE

Properly used, your electric range can save you time, money, food and neck. It helps conserve vitamins, too. Here are hints that will help you keep it in A-1 operating condition:

- Clean outside of your range as you would a china plate. Wash, when cool, with warm soapy water; rinse and wipe dry. Do not put cold water or cold objects on outside finish when hot. It may crack or craze the finish.
- Avoid letting spilled foods dry or harden on range. Food spilled on surface units should be burned off. Avoid using stiff brush or sharp instrument.
- Most surface units can be raised and the pan beneath removed for scouring. This should be done every day.
- To clean oven, first be sure it is cool and switch is off; then remove heating units by pulling them straight out. Wash oven linings with warm soap and water, scouring charred spots with steel wool. Rinse and dry. Scour oven shelves lightly with steel wool. Never wash oven or surface heating units. Keep dripping rags away from switches. Use a rag that is merely damp.
- Aluminum deep well cookers should be kept bright and shining by scouring with steel wool and soap and water. Porcelain enamel cookers should not be heated before adding fat, water or foods, should not be permitted to boil dry, and should not be subjected to sudden changes of temperatures.
- Have a competent serviceman check your range occasionally, to make sure it is "sitting level" on the floor, that the vent is clean, that the units are operating satisfactorily, and that wiring is in tiptop shape.
- Remember - an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, so give that range of yours the best of care and it will last you longer and give you better service.

Soldiers of Production

America's "soldiers of production," men and women working in the plants of American industry, have their uniforms, too. Some uniforms worn by G-E workers on vital production jobs are shown below.

1. Not a gas mask, but a special neon mask to guard his breathing.

2. Like a man from Mars, the "cold room" research man is a "strange sight" as he tests airplane instruments for high-altitude performance in a G-E laboratory.

3. Frankenstein! No, just another G-E worker. His job is sandblasting turbine castings for Uncle Sam's ships at one of the General Electric plants.

4. The helmet he wears is to protect him from light! The ray and the absolute locomotive and 4000 wooden freight cars and units of work equipment, much of which has been and is still being replaced by modern rolling stock.

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.

Bullock & Bullock Mt. Vernon, Kentucky

92 YEARS OF PROGRESS A Historical Tour of the Louisville & Nashville R.R. Depression Days The L. & N. weathered the dark days of the Depression better than most American railroads. It completed its $3,000,000 bridge across the Ohio River at Fishersden, Ky. on December 31, 1931, and helped construct the gigantic Cincinnati Union Terminal which was completed on March 31, 1933.
