Assessment Period Here For All Taxable Property

Rockestle Countians are re-minded by Property Valuation Administrator Robert Cromer that the time is at hand to declare their property for tax assessment purposes, The as-sessment period is Jan, I to March I.

March I. Property subject to assess-ment includes real estate and improvements, automobiles, trucks, trailers, house trail-ers, boats and motors, stocks and bonds, notes and mortga-accounts receivable and life in-surance proceeds.

and counts, necessary and said lie insuccessive behavior and lie insuccessive behavior and the said lie inmore assessment will be takenon the value of the property as it actated on Jan. I.
it is the obligation of the property owners to declare any change in their property (such as buying, sailling, or improveing their real estates) and toreport them to Mr. Gainest office on the first floor of the courthouse, Taxpayers having no changes and who do not come in during the assessment period will be assessed according to the 1972 tax record.

Rockcastle Recollections.....

For our history we will need a record of every church in Rockcastle County and since I doubt if any one person can write it, or can find time to look up all the information on it, I hope somebody from each congregation will get up their church history and send it in, from the oldest to those most recently formed. Some public-spirited person in each church community could do their own church and the county situarge a real service by thus helping to get a record of Rockcastle County's religious history, covering all denominations. We will make it a point to see that articles again in the inhabed book is reserved for the section covering such a his-

In a recent talk with Bro, Cecil Dallay, I was told that the Buckeye Church was probably one of the oldest in the county and that some of the earlier membership later went to the organization of both the Wildle and the Mi. A perhaps earlier church in Renfro Valley once stood above the old cametery here in the Renfro Valley Settlement. It was known as the Old Renfro Valley Meeting House and the cemetery was then known as the Renfro Valley Burying Ground in connection with it.

Used EC Invalual told me thirty years ago that a relative of his, I believe his grandsther, had services there many years ago, Mr., Jones Hist and the relative his grandsther, had services there many years ago, Mr., Jones Hist and the the delivers in one about it but had it had long ago fallen comed and was very much smazed until I remembered that the until for more and was very much smazed until I remembered that the until for carrier, which looked very old at the time I found it, Incidentally, I was also ansæed to find the same name carved on Lettered Rock, near Livington just before World War II. There again the mystery was solved by remembering that he, too, had taught there before his death as a very young man.

Of course we need more than information such as this on our old church-ea. Where possible, we would like to have date of founding, early mem-berathly records, names of ministers who presched there, etc., but every-thing helps and it is hoped that as much as possible can be found out about these old places of worship and those who worshipped there.

Several years ago I saked over WRVK for achool children to write the names and dates found on the markers in their nearest connectry and send them. In for a permanent record for the use of the many people who are trying to trace their earlier ancestry. There was very little response to this request but, after all, school children couldn't be supposed to have much interest in such matters as graveyards. It anybody will take the rought to send us such information as the oldest names and dates in their nearest cemetery we will try to get most of them into this book, which already promises to be shout the size of a Sears Roebuck catalogi We are especially interested in finding the oldest birthdate on any tombstone in Rockcastic County.

Rockcastle County.

I have made a list of the burjals in The Renfro Valley Cemetery, the Coffey Family Cemetery, the Rose Hill Cemetery, and partial lists such as affected my own family. In Scaffold Case, March, Oak Hill and French Cemeteries; also, of course, the cemetery at Mt. Vernon and the one on the old Jess Livesay place, it was there that I found years ago the lost and neglected graves of William (Devil Bill) Adams, his wife and their son-in-law, John Crawford overgrown with trees and bushes. This cemetery was later cleaned up and restored to being one of the best-kept rural come steries arounded to the company of the co

Linda Ramsey Ashley of Lexington, Ky, has sent in a very complete history of the early settlers of that name, including Revolutionary solders, and Mrs. Lizale Philbeck of Hamilton, Onto now in her 96th, year, has turnished a history of the early Ballard ramily and an interesting account of the old Ballard in, now known as the Wally Phillips place, Mrs. Laura McHargue has submitted an extended list of Hiatt descendants, by the way, the surname Jones as a first name is generally quite unusual, but not in Rockcastle County, Out of curiosity I have listed the following, past and present Jones Afans, Jones Frach, Jones Luft (it is also a part of my own name) Jones Proctor, Jones Ages, Jones Litt, Jones Durham, Jones Rinsey, Jones (Pappy) Blitt, whose stather was also named Jones Hiatt, his son, Jones Hiatt and at least two grandsons named Jones, Where did the name ortginate in the first place? Jones Afans, son of "Devil Blitt" Adams, is as far back as I have been able to trace it.

Still need family histories, we have barely scratched the surface, How about families that settled along Shagge Creek and that side of the county,
