LIFE'S WEAVING
My life is but a weaving
Between my God and me;
I may not choose the colors,
He knows what they should be
For He can view the pattern
Upon the upper side.
While I can see it only
On this, the under side.

Sometimes He weaveth sorrow, Which seemeth strange to me; But I will trust His judgment, And work on faithfull; Tis He who fills the shuttle, He knows just what is best; So I shall weave in earnest And leave with Him the rest.

A Prayer for January By: N.F. Stephens Lexington

Dear Lord,
It seems an odd time
to start a new year
in the cold of midwinter
When the days are short
When the days are short
When what was brown
Turns leaf ygreen,
Or September maybe
When we've thrown off
The languor of summer
And feel the blood racing
From the coming frost? From the coming frost? But no, why not Start a new during The season of your birth? In you, we know
Old things have passed away
All things have become new,
So we become like blank pages
of the calendar, Waiting to be filled.

Elvis Presley By: Mayzell Ries

I was a teenager When I first heard you sing I couldn't believe All the love you would bring

I watched your movies On TV and the big screen I collected all your records To me you were supreme

They say your colors Were pink and black I loved them too My love for you, goes way back

I cried when you married Priscilla, it's true 'Cause I always dreamed Of being married to you

Then cam Lisa Marie She looked like you too I knew then,
I didn't have any right to you

I heard you started Taking pills But I didn't know You had any ills

The news that Priscilla had left I couldn't believe it was true I couldn't see how she could Have left you.

I would have stuck with you No matter what the cost Without you Elvis I would be lost

I watched the movie don't think Priscilla Should have aired your private life,

What happened between the two of you Isn't for the world to see It would have been different If it were you, Elvis and me.

Negotiations for sale of Renfro under way

Negotiations that could lead to the sale of Renfro Valley barndances and associated businesses are in the 'seri-ous' stage, Mrs. Ann Henderson, president of Renfro Valley Folks Inc., confirmed this week.

The sale would involve the north side of the Renfro Valley complex and the "new barn" on the south side of U.S. 25.

"Nothing has been signed," Mrs. Henderson stressed in an interview this week, "But the talks are in the serious stage. Whether they progress beyond that point remains to be seen." She also confirmed that Glenn Penington of Berea and Ralph Gabbard, vice president of television Channel 27 in Lexington, are two who are involved in the sale. She said she did not know if others were involved.

"However, it is my impression that those interested want to purchase the other side of U.S. 25, meaning the motel/restaurant and the fast restaurant, so they can expand facilifor radio station WRVK at Rentro. Mrs. Henderson said the sale has been "discussed at length, including the pitce." She did not give a figure. "The group has big plans for the valley, and we have been hopeful that those who eventually got Renfro would continue its tradition and develop it further, "she said. "It would be a big boost for the county." She noted that, "if we keep Renfro, it will remain much the same as it is now, and although it does well, it has a greater potential."

Renfro Folks Inc., is defined as the Barndance, Jamboree, gift shop, "Bugle" newspaper, and the "Main Street" of shops. It is owned by the daughters of the late John Lair who are, Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Barbara Smith of Hopkinsville, Mrs. Nancy Griffin of Annandale, Va., and Mrs. Ginalee King of Port St. Lucie, Fla.

"We had planned to keep the shows at least through this year since it is the 50th anniversary of the founding of the valley, but things change as time goes by," Mrs. Henderson said.

Robinson was born Feb. 25, 1971, according to a birth certificate produced by his attorney at a hearing. That means he won't be 18 years old and legally an adult until next month. THE WRONG TIME FOR A CONGRESSIONAL PAY RAISE

THE WRONG TIME FOR A CONGRESSIONAL PAY RAISE
President Reagan has recommended a 50-percent pay raise for members of Congress, federal judges and top federal officials at a time when many Kentuckians and other Americans are making painful sarfifices to help balance the federal budget.

I will voteragainst this badly timed pay raise, and I have an idea that Congress will reject it before the Feb. 7 deadline. In any event, I will fight to keep any increase from taking effect before the 102nd Congress convense in 1991. The President himself could not accept a raise during his term of office, and I think it would be a conflict of interest for Congress to vote itself a raise with no delaying mechanism.

However, we should look for ways to offer competitive salaries for jobs in vital federal agencies. I see a special need in the National Institutes of Health, a group that has been frusfrated in efforts to hire top researchers to fight cancer, AIDS and other tragic diseases. I definitely would want to exempt that agency from any move to delay overnment pay increases for two years.

I also want to make it clear that congressional pay is a serious actional problem — a problem that should be addressed after we begin to balance the budget. Outdated salaries and skyrocketing campaign costs are combining to keep younger and less affluent Americans from seeking and winning seats in Congress. The result, in my opinion, is a Congress that lacks diversity and is losing-sit feel for the hopes and concerns of grassroots Americans.

The high cost of televised image-making — and mud-slinging — is seeking and winning seats in Congress. The result, in my opinion, is a Congress that lacks diversity and is losing lat feel for the hopes and concerns of grassroots Americans.

The high cost of televised image-making — and mud-slinging — is an issue of growing concern to me. With campaign costs often soaring to $3 million or more, senators face the prospect of raising $7,000 to $10,000 every week for six years for campaign war chests. We see senators running off in all directions to raise money when they should be dealing with the problems of constituents. We see a growing number of affluent members spending millions of dollars of their own money to win and keep their seats.

All of this tells me that we are going to need a package of reforms to deal with congressional pay, campaign-spending limits, negative advertising and other issues bearing on congressional elines. We are going to have to deal, now or later, with the issue of speech-making honoraria to members of Congress. These payments are increasingly-viewed as an unfair way to supplement congressional salaries.

We must overcome some critical problems before asking taxpayers to pay higher salaries to members of Congress. But we cannot ignore the need to preserve the Congress as a truly representative body of the American people. We cannot allow the Senate to become a House of Lords, dominated by millionative members who pay their own way and have little real contact with ordinary citizens.

"What Saith the Scriptures"

The Bible teaches us that God speaks to mankind today by his son, Jesus Christ, Hebs. 1:1-2. Jesus said he would send the Holy Spirit in Jn. 16:13, to guide the apostles and prophets into all Truth. In Eph. 3:3-5 Paul shows us several things here. First, Paul's knowledge came by direct revelation from the spirit. Paul (as the other writers) wrote these things down. "How that by revelation he made known unto me the empstery; (as I wrote afore in few words, whereby when ye read, ye may understand my knowledge in the mystery of Christy." Thus Paul clearly states that we can read and understand the Bible, (of course some things are harder than other. IIPet. 3:16. Hebs. 5:12-13.

silfs, Hebs. 5:12-13).
Many people are taught they need the Catholic Church to understand the word of God. They are told that the church is the "divine interpertor" for mankind, Yet Paul said we can read and understand what he did.

-Jehovah's Witnesses, Mormons and other cults, say we need their writings to understand the Bible, without which we can not learn the truth. But again, Paul still says we can read and understand what he did.

-Then, we have those who say we need the Holy Spirit to personally and directly enlighten us concerning the scriptures. Yet they too are wrong, Paul said we can read and understand his knowledge of God.

-People-who teach and say that we can't understand the Bible, are blaspheriningthe words of God in Eph. 3:3-31 Friends, don't you think God was powerful enough to reveal a message that we could read and understand? I believe he could and did; for that is what Paul said happened in Eph.3:3-5.

Now rest assured that if you don't want to learn the truth, you won't

Grandma's

The holidays were over A time for rest had arrived I said a silent prayer So thankful I'd survived

I settled in my easy chair And reached for unread papers Now I'd catch up on the news About givers and the takers

But the ringing of the phone Intruded with my plans As I picked up the receiver With a tired unwilling hand

Mom, I'm asking for a favor I hope you will oblige Bill would like for him and I To get away for awhile

So we were just wondering If you'd keep our little one It'll only be for a few days And they'll be lots of fun ow what should be my answer? I hesitated for awhile And wished they'd never asked me For such a quick reply

My answer wasn't no But oh how I wished The whole family could go

So I put aside my reading And canceled other plans Saying sure bring them ov I'll do the best I can Now it's great to be a grandma

As all of you well know But it's also great to live our lives Before we get too old

So lets go ahead with plans Hoping nothing interferes And save some time for 'grandma's'

This Is Our Life By: Flossie Christine McKinney

Gone are the days, so restful and

Sanc, Gone is the old fashioned bliss; TV has invaded our peaceful don And taken away all of this!

Now every evening we all gather

'round --From Grandma to tiniest tot --And nobody dares even utter a sound For fear of missing the plot.

All through America the scene is the same: Most all of us have TV-itis; Our neighbors don't even know our And our relatives never invite us!

But all this aloofness is well understood; It's the modern American way. And friendly gestures are all well and good

If they don't interfere with the play.

For nothing must halt our magical

Into this make-believe land!
We've TV dinners and snacks for the And plenty of drinks close at hand

When the famed Dr. Casev appears on the scene, WE all heave a breathless sigh; He's always so calm, so cool and

An all-round wonderful guy!

We see operations being performed-And most of them are a success --We also see gangsters being "reformed"

By the six-gun of Dillon and Ness.

as if by magic, we're out on the plain --Excitement prevails in the room! We gallp o'er desert and rugged

And back to The Long Bra

The ensuing fight is a thrill to

The ensuing tight is a unit to behold!
The villain is knocked to the floor;
The 'good guy' recovers the prospector's gold;
And the 'bad guy' gets thrown through the door!

Then the friendly announcer bids us goodnight --That's all the TV for today This is our life, be it wrong

WISH THEM WELL; THEY'LL NEED OUR HELP AND PRAYERS

One of the principal differences between a free society and a totalitarian one is that we elect our governing officials, who win by a complicated process based on receiving a majority of the votes. This means that there are also those of us who would have preferred another candidate or slate of officers, and who received the news of this defeat with not only disappointment but also great apprehension about the but also great apprehension about the fate of our country. Nonetheless, when the majority speak, the remainder must accept the verdict with good grace; and we must all pray at our House of Worship for the Lord to guide the chosen leaders in the right direction. Also, we should let them know of our concerns and recommendations. If we all do this, it might enable them to do a better job; and prove our fears about the future to be completely unfounded.

(Shepherd) Singleton and was mar-ined to Aden Thomas, now deceased, for almost 41 years.

I was born and grew up in the Singleton Yalley area of Rockcastle County where I attended grades one through eight at the one room rural school at Poplar Gap. The school was more than a mile from my home and my brothers, sisters and I would get up early each morning, do our asigned-chores and them walk to school. Sometimes, when there was snow on the ground, my older brother would carry my little sister on his back. We were never in drastic need as we grew up, we all worked hard on the farm and I'm glad that I learned to work hard and to appreciate he results.

The Mt. Vernon Sign in one or two room rural schools in Rockcastle Co. As I look back, that was the happiest and most fulfilling years of my teaching career. Most of the teaching was done one-orbolt. I had close contact with each child and most of the teaching was done on a personal basis. We didn't have any modern teaching was done on a personal basis. We didn't have any modern teaching aids, but we did teach "Reading, Writing and Arithmetic." We also taught moral values, honestly, courtesy and independence."

Since retirement, I have done some traveling. I have toured over most of the continental U.S. and have made 3 tours to Canada. I have been on one cruise to the Bahamas and two to the Virgin Islands and Eastern and Western Caribbean and to Mexico twice. I regret that I couldn't do some of the traveling while I was teaching so that I could have taken some of my acquired information back to my purpose the continents. I see some of my former students. Water quality has greatly improved over the past two decades in the Ohio River. Biologists report white bass, sauger, walleye, crappie and black bass populations are on the upswing which means the overall river fishery is good.

Because untreated organic waste depletes oxygen in water, and since sport fish don't tolerate low oxygen levels as well as other fish, it's not surprising that studies in the '50s and 50s (at at time when the nation was polluting its waterways to the hill) crevaded fewer sport fish in the Ohio than ever before.

But after sewage treatment planis and industry began cleaning up their act, and as BOD (biochemical oxygen demand) levels decreased, sport fish populations gradually increased.

Less sedimentation (perhaps the result of stricter strip mining laws) and construction of filigh-level dam's (whichercated more living space for fish by backing water into creek

Noscolecas are a common nuisance of childhood. Like most childhood insesses they are not usually serious, but can be very anxiety provoking for the parent. Usually they are caused by the capillaries or tinyblood vessels in the front of the nose breaking from exposure to dry air and/or injury from picking the nose. Winter time is a bad time for nose-bleeds. The dry air in heated homes causes drying of the mucus membranes and itching with resultant scratching and picking of the nose. Spring and fall are other bad times too, for those who are allergic to pollens etc. The allergies also cause thing with resultant scratching and bleeding.

Interested high school sentors can get further information and applica-tion forms from their high school counselor or principal, or by contact-ing the Professional Education Preparation Program, Keftucky Council on Higher Education, 1050 U.S. 127, South, Frankfort, Ky.

Applications must be received by March 1, 1989.

More than 95 percent of nose-bleeds are from blood vessels in the front of the nose, and will respond to pressure, that is, pinching the nose tightly for at least 5 minutes. Placing ice on the nose will also help. Keep vaseline on the inside of the nose to keep tissues moist. Cut fin-gernails short to decrease damage from picking the nose. The child should avoid blowing the nose hard Eccessive use of nose drops may also cause bledding, but careful use of them may help justop the nose and preffacther problem. Avoid heavy lifting and keep the head clevated for a couple of days after a bleed. Don't a couple of days after a bleed.
