City of Mt. Vernon adopts ethics code

Two ordinances had their second reading at a meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night. One ordinance, an ethics code for he city, was approved by the Council, as was an ordinance annexing property in the Rockcastle Industrial Park to the city. That ordinance refers to Image Entry property. Council woman Karen King told the group she had talked to the Department of Highway in Somerset and they had no firm date on a traffic light at the corner of U.S. 150 and Richmond Street.

Some confusion has erupted on other traffic lights.

Mayor Gary R. Cromer sent adelegation to Somerset to determine a traffic light at the intersection of Ky.

461 and W. Main Street (1326) but Council woman Karen King thought the council wanted to determine the availability of a light at the high school intersection.

availability of a light at the high school intersection. The council will go beke and get together on the location of a light and confer with Bige Towery Jr. School superimedent, on his plans for the confer with the plans of the confer with the highway department.

The police activity report for November was handed to the council. It showed 48 citations issued, 91 total charges, 8 DUI arrests, 198 calls for service, 16 accidents, 67 other agency assists, 12 monofris assists, 7 criminal cases opened and the Mt. Vernon Fire Department made 26 runs.

Local families need help for the holidays

Now is the time to help our families for the holidays.
Christmas is just around the comer and there are many families who are having a very difficult time preparing for the holidays due to lack of income, lack of job, lack of housing, illness or disabilities.
Again the Rockeastle Emergency Assistance Program and the Department of Social Services, Family Resource Gagare, Migrant Program,
Christian Appalachian Program, Renfro Valley Love Tree, and other agencies, all work together to help our families at this time of year.
Donations of food, good used toys, new toys, new clothing, toweds and washeloths and other small household liters can be taken to the new School officials welcomed Rockcastle countians to the new state of the art, $11 million dollar facility, which was completed six months behind schedule.

Included in the new 140,000 square foot facility, is 48 classrooms, a gymnasium that seats 2,250 people and has a running track on the second level and an auditorium that will seat 405 people.

The gymnasium and the auditorium can be entered by the public for any event, with-out the rest of the school being accessible to the public.
"I believe we have as nice a facility as there is in the state of Kentucky," said RCHS princi-pal Ronnie Cash. "Our faculty has been very cooperative the first three months of school working around the unfinished areas, and the students have been understanding as well," Cash said.

"I believe that everyone realizes now that it is all finished that any inconviences were well worth it," he said.

PRECIOUS SOULS, CHIL-DREN OF AN EVIL AGE, greet-ings and seasonal simultudes from bucolic Wabd, nestled tranquilly on the north shore of Cummins branch, by which there resided in times past a gentleman-philosopher named Lafe Golightly, who was known wide and far for his penetrating insights and pithy remarks on a multitude of subjects.

About people Lafe said, "Some are wise, and some are otherwise." Of aging, he said, "Most people don't think they're in middle age until they arent," And regarding patience, he advised folks to "count down before blasting off." And, dear hearts, it is on the subject of "patience" that I take my text today. "When describing a "patient" person, we often sup he or she "has the patience of Joh." That expression, as you likely know, comes the biblical Book of James, chapter 5, verse; 11, and reads, "Te have heard of the patience of Job.". "Il like many who were nutrured on The King James Version of the Bible, grew up envisioning ancient Job as an imperiurably patriarch whose feathers nothing nuffled, not even calamity and the death of his children. My view of Job changed radically when I was in my twenties. Why?1 read the Book of Job in its entirety! Hasing read only the prologue (chapters 1-2) and only the prologue (chapters 1-2). The prologue (chapter 42:7-117), I had neglected the heart of the book - where Job is anything but "patent". Let me illustrate with passages that support my contention.

. After a cascade of catastrophe had been poured out on Job, and after three of his "friends" came and sat in silence for seven days upon seeing his physical dissortion and suffering. Joh's first words were "Let the day large the state of the st for 1 will not restrain my mouth; I will speak in the anguish of my spirit;I will complain in the bitterness of my soul . . . As for me . . . why should I not be impatient?"

Now the friends of Job were of one mind regarding Job's trouble -- it had come on him as a consequence of some great sin on Job's part, a sin as great as his ill fortune. After Eliphaz failed to convince Job that his prelatica to convince Joo that its price dicament was righting other than the wrath of the Almighty, Bildad tried his hand (8:1). "How long will you say-these-things, and the words of your mouth be a great wind?" In other words, 'Job, you're a wind bag!"

Then Zophar tore into Job (11:2,6):

"Should a multitude of words go un-answered, and a man full of talk be vindicated?... Know then that God exacts of you less than your guilt deserves."

Job and his friends went through three rounds of vocal diff-talf, with no give on either side. Job's response to Zophar sarcastically sums up his point on Gall three friend's diagnosis (12:1): "No doubt you are the people-and visidom will die with you."

Job's argument was not with his friends. It was will God! He wanted to take his case to the highest count to take his case to the highest to do do the highest to take his case to the highest to take the highest the highest to take the highest the highest to take the highest the hin, that we should come to trial together. There is no unpire between us, who might lay his hand upon us both." Most defiantly, Job told his friends they were liars and "worth-less physicians." He wanted nothing less than an audience with God himself (13:3): "But I would speak to the Almighty, and I desire to argue my case with God." He would charge (Cont. 16 A.3). (Cont. 16 A.3)

I've been saving up my nfoney over the last six or eight weeks now. Instead of going out to JRs Pool -Room or the Kountry Kichen or any of the other half dozen places that serve hot unches in Lancaster, I've been eating Dixie Loaf and liver cheese and blood and the control of the control of your choice of premium cheese, on-ions, tomatoes, head lettuce and a few slices of roast beef lathered with horse raddish sauce. Sliced to perfection. And if you don't appreciate the roast beef, there are cold cuts of ham and liver loaf: of Dixie loaf and fine bologna; of head sauce and other pickled loaf that you can choose from. And any number of mustards and mayos you might choose to slick the whole thing down.

For less than three bucks.
At Uncle Tom's you can get the Dagwood and a cup of coffee for less than three dollars and then you need to slip off behind the garage out back and find the coffee sacks where you can lay your body down and sleep for awhile.

Normally I spend six or seven dollars for lunch when I'm in town. Normally I go for the taters and porkchops and all the fixings and I spend my money at Lancaster's finer res-taurants. Normally I stop in at E.J's or Uncle Tom's after work to purchase the daily paper and a pack of cigars and maybe a gallon of milk.

But here lately I find that it's far more nutritious if I take my funch out of EJ.'sor Tom Clark's deli counters. My lunch is cold, to be sure, but it's not as fattening and, My God, if you haven't had a taste of EJ.'s cold roast beef you have yet to experience one (Cont. to A3)

Now, to make a longer story short -- and because I may have quoted more Scripture than the average church member can stand, let alone non-church folk -- Job got a meeting with his Maker. It didn't go as he with his Maker. It didn't go as he expected: God asked the questions! And by the time the Almighty finished his interrogation, Job had given up his complaint and repented his impatience, and price (mankind's number one'sin): "I have uttered what I did not understand...! despise myself, and repent in dust and ashes." I did not understand... I despite wayself, and repent in dust and ashes." (42:46)
Well, there you have it, friends. Job was not so "patient." Rather, he presevered." That's the way most translations of the Bible put it, including The New King James.
So... here's the bottom line of my say today: If we could be so wrong about lob, could we be wrong about some of our other long-standing biblical interpretations, especially those based on out-dated English words. Really, folks, it's a frightening thing of properties of the propertie (42:7): "... you have not spoken of me what is right, as my servant Job has." What a condemnation!

And, precious souls, our "patient bb" idea came about because of a And, precious souls, our "patient Job" idea came about because of a simple misunderstanding of the English language. "Patience" in King James' day (1611) carried the connotation of "perseverance." But today "patient" means "capable of bearing affiction with calimness" (American Heritage Dictionary). Beloved, The King James Version of the Bible is the greatest book in the English language, but it is not the best translation of the original Scriptures. Oops! One more thought. I've heard it said that the Book of Job was written to explain the ways of God to man." I doubt that. Job's questions were never answered. The Rockets trailed the entire game. Quarter scores were 28-21; 59-36; 87-50 and the final 107-65.
The second game was against Madison Southern and it was a lot closer for a final score of 70-64. The Rockets trailed by 8 at the end of the first quarter 23-15; had pulled to within four at half time 36-32; were still down by four at the end of the third period 51-47 but they couldn't get over the hump as the final score was a 6 point margin.

Ken Hopkins led the scoring with 22 points; Chad Severance had 12; Gary Burns 11; Adam Powell 8; Eddie Todd o and Eric McCuire 5.

In the third game of the tournament, the Rockets faced Lynn Campand came up again on the short end of the score 70-66.

The Rockets played even with Lynn Camp in the first quarter for a 13-13 score, but Lynn Camp pulled away to an 8 point (33-25) lead at the half; maintained it through the third period (52-44) and only managed to cut four off the lead in the fourth quarter for the final 70-66.

The only win for the Rockets in the tournament came in the fourth Gary Burns leading the scoring with 17.

It was a close game all the way with the Rockets ahead by two at the end of the first quarter 11-9; by one at the half 33-32 and it was 52 to 49 at the end of three.

Now that the official "fire season" for forest fires are over, what can be done with thousands of acres that have burned?

It all depends on how severe the burn was, said Doug McLaren, extension forestry specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture?

Perhaps the best thing to do is nothing.

In areas where the fires were not severe, the trees will have been damaged at the base of the stem. That will result in the bark breaking open the next spring to expose the cambium layagof wood to insects, disease and future rot.

"Once a fire has been identified as having occurred within a stand, timber buyers are reluctant to purchase the trees because of unpredictable damage inside the stem," McLaren said.

What can be done then? What can be cone then?

Lemon law protects buyers

Buyers of new mobile homes that turn out to be defective have a way to have the manufacturer held accountable for the defects, above and be-able for the defects, above and beyond the manufacturer's warranty.

"Kentucky Mobile Home Lemon Law provides that if defects develop in the mobile home within the first 12 months of ownership which require more than four percent of the cost of the mobile home in repairs and require repair on three or more occasions, the owner may be entitled to the return of the purchase price or to a new mobile home," said Bob Flashman, extension family resource management specialists with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

versity of nemony culture.

To take advantage of this law, the dissatisfied buyer must send a letter by certified mail to the manufacturer at the manufacturer's principal business office stating that such defects exist. This is to document the manufacturer received the letter. The buyer must send this leter within the first 12 months of ownership, he said.

months of ownership, he said. The manufacturer has 10 days after receiving the letter to inspect the mobile home and either make the necessary repairs, return the full purchase price or furnish a new mobile home, Flashman said. "If the manufacturer fails to com-

Also the library will be closed Saturday, Dec. 24 and Monday, Dec. 26, for the Christmas sholiday. Our sympathy goes out to Pam Chaliff (the bookmobile librarian) due to the death to her father, Hugh ramsey, Also to the other members of the ramily. I'm sure the bookmobile patrons also share in her sorrow and I know she would appreciate a card from her friends. It certainly helps to know that other people care when we are hurting. The Craft Class will be meeting again Dec. 14. Several ladies that signed up for the class have not been attending and they have been missing some great ideas for Christmas crafts. We hope to see more of you at the next meeting. The craft will be Mr. and Mrs. Snowman and one set will be on display at the library.

News from Writing to Read Each first grade class worked hard on composing a cooperative class story for Thanksgiving. Here are their very original stories

From Mrs. McClure's Class Thanksgiving

I namksgiving

Once upon a time on Thanksgiving day, we decided to use food to eatch a turkey, so we could eat him for Thanksgiving, We put a strawberry pie in the yard. After dark, while we were asleep, he sent his friend, Rooster, to drag the pie over to the substes where he was hiding. Yum!
Yum! Good Strawberry pie! After that we gusfdood outhe turkey did not like. We left only celery and broccoli for two days. He was really starving!
We built a trap with a trail of corn going to the trap, fie was so blungry, we wasn't so smart anymore. He gobbled the trail of corn into the trap Bang! Caught turkey! We ale him for dinner.

Mrs. Smith's Class

Mrs. Smith's Class Thanksgiving

We went hunting to catch a turkey. We saw a turkey. The turkey was brown and its feathers were black. Its ail was made of feathers. We decided we wanted this turkey for Thanksgiving dinner.

We decided to hide behind the rock.

We decided to hide behind the rock. We sneaked up on the turkey, and grabbed it by its legs. The turkey flapped its wings, and wiggled out of our hands. We caught the turkey again by its legs, and hit the turkey on the head with a hammer. We picked the turkey up by its legs and took it home. We cooked the turkey and ate it. It was delicious!

The End From Mrs. Vanzant's Class Thanksgiving Dinner

One morning the boy woke up and knew it was Thanksgiving. His mom and dad told him to go and get a turkey for Thanksgiving dinner. He thought for a minute and went back to butkey for Inanusgying dunter, he whought for a minute and went back to whist room to get his slingshot and his kinfle. Herode his horse to the woods. He got behind the bushes and hid. Suddenly, he saw the feathers moving behind the tree. He made a gobble good and the turkey came out from behind the tree. The boy got two rocks out of his pocket, and put them in his slingshot. He aimed his slingshot at the turkey's healt his slingshot at the turkey's healt he rock hit the turkey and he beat dand the turkey fell down. Then he put the turkey for his horse, and rode home. The boy asid, "Mom I got atturkey and now we can have Thanksgiving Dinner!"

From Mrs. Carter's Class

Have you ever caught a turkey? I ave. It started on Thanksgiving forning. I ate breakfast and I got my have. It morning. I ate b gun and my net. I went hunting in the woods. I found my treehouse and climbed in. I watched for the turker climbed in. I watched for the turkey through the window. *Anipht! I found the turkey!!" I said. Quickly and quietly, I dropped the net over the turkey. The turkey tried to eath is way out, but he coludn! I went down the tree, and I got the turkey. I carried the turkey home in the net. I then shot the turkey. I took the turkey in the house formy mom toook. Our Thanksgiving dinner was just right. From Mrs. Webb's Class

Thanksgiving Turkey

Once there was a boy who wanted to kill a turkey for Thanksgiving dinner. The boy dight know how to kill a turkey. His dad said 'I will teach you.' So his dad gets a gun and shows him how to kill a turkey and gives him the gun and the boy rides his pony into the woods. He tips to the top to the top to the top to the turkey. Boy the crunchy leave to find a turkey. Suddenly, he saw the turkey. He gulled his gun out of his pocket. Heaimedath be turkey, cocked his gun, put his finger on the trigger, and fired. The bullet hit the turky fell right in the nock. The turkey fell right in the nock in turkey fell right in the nock. The turkey fell right in the nock in turkey fell right in turkey fell right in the nock in turkey fell right in the nock in turkey fell right in the nock in the n right in the neck. The turkey fell down. The boy tied the turkey to the pony, and got on the pony and rode home. When he got home, his morn

We are much more than a long-term facility. Are you aware of the other services offered by your community hospital's Respiratory Care Department?

There are EEG (electroencephalograph) services for all ages. These tests allow a physicians to detect any abnormalities in the brain waves. These tests are transmitted to Lexington where they are read by a neurologist.

Pulmonary Function testing is also available. This type of test helps determine if lung function is impaired and to what degree. Another use of these tests is to determine eligibility for Black Lung Benefits. You can also see the amount of improvement achieved after using a bronchodilator.

Stress testing is a very important step in evaluating cardiac function. The patient has lead wires hooked to electrodes placed at various spots on the chest. He/she will then be asked to walk on a treadmill while the technician and physician carefully monitor the function of the heart during the "stress" of walking

These are just a few of the services offered by our fine hospital's Respiratory Care Department.

Twelve year old Bryan LaPlante Inds college life adventurous. Although he is not an undergraduate student himself, his father's decision to pursue academic work has opened an exciting world for him. Bryan's dad, Jeff LaPlante, is preacher in runining, and that's fine wire with him. Especially since Clear Creek Baptist Bible College in Pineville, is such a neat place to live. Formerly from Clay County, the LaPlantes moved to Pineville in 1992 so Jeff could obtain ministry education and still care for his wife and four children. When he and Joan Davidson were married in 1981 he thought working as a truck driver or communications repairman were his primary employment options. Although he had accepted Christ and felt a call to the ministry saternager, Jeff evaded making a serious commitment for many years.

Buy-out secures seven year stability for Ky. burley growers

Negotiations that ended Dec. 1 Negotiations that ended Dec. 1 between America's tobacco manufacturers and tobacco growers promise to stabilize the U.S. industry, to reduce surplus leaf stocks held by farmer-owned co-operative, and to sustain current levels of U.S. tobacco farming.

At least that's how leaders of the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association view the several weeks of closed-door negotiations held in Washington, D.C. Under the agreement's terms, five held in Washington, D.C.

Under the agreement's terms, five U.S. cigaretemakers - Philip Morris, R.J. Reynolds, Brown & Williamson, Lorillard, and American—will participate in the buyout of surplus stocks now held by one North Carolina flue-cured-co-operative and the pair of burley-co-ops in Knoxville, TN, and Lexington.

TN, and Lexington.
The agreement includes provisions that the five manufacturers will over that the five manufacturers will over the next seven years: Purchase the co-ops' unsold inven-tories from the 1990-93 crops. Do so in proportion to each buying company's share of cigarettes manu-factured in the U.S. Make purchases at the co-ops' cost, less a 2 percent discount. Be eligible for greater discounts

Make purchases an tecto-type scount, Be eligible for greater discount. Be eligible for greater discount (upto 10 percent for burley and up to 13 percent for flue-cured) as each company also buys at least 90 percent of its annual intentions of new U.S. tobacco during regular auctions. By law, U.S. cigarettemakers annually declare how much Americangrown they intend to buy, and based on these intentions, the USDA sets yearly quotas for the production of U.S. tobacco, and American farmers are limited by their allotments from U.S. tobacco, and American farmers are limited by their allotments from these quotas as to how much tobacco cach farm can raise and market.

Ost of this discounted program will be offset by millions of dollars that tobacco farmers and tobacco buyers have paid into federal no-net-cost funds over the years, so the buyout will notaffect U.S. taxpayers, according to Burley Co-op leaders.

Rockastle growers to benefit from provisions

Burley growers in Indiana, Kentucky, Missouri, Ohio and West Virgini were represented at the recent buyout negotiations by a team from the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association.

The Co-op team included Joe Wright, the association president, Danny McKinney, its CEO, Barbara Edelman and John Miller, its legal counsels, and Will Snell, an advisor from the University of Kentucky.

Edelman and John Miller, its legal counsels, and Will Snell, an advisor from the University of Kentucky. The major implications of the buyout for tobacco growers, according to Co-op negotiators, is that the agreement will:

Prevent a 4-percent (or greater) quota reduction that had been imminent for U.S. burley farmers in 1995.

*Prevent a decline of $300-plus million that Kentucky's farm economy would have suffered after a massive quota reduction.

Prevent large reductions in land values, tax bases, agribusinesss sales, and other farm-related activities in rural areas of tobacco-producing states.

Likely reduce the no-net-cost assessment that farmers will pay in 1995 to less than one cent a pound. Probably keep burley pool stocks and no-net-cost assessments low for several years.

Probably keep burley quotas at respectable levels for several years, unless major federal legislation significantly regulates tobacco products increases excise taxes on them. Yet to be decided, however, are changes in tobacco price supports, tobacco grading procedures, and tobacco loan rates that the recent Saddle Club joins in spirit of giving!

For over ten years the Rockcastle Saddle Club has sponsored a Cancer Ride in an effort to raise funds for children afflicted with this disease so that they might enjoy a special summer camp, designed to meet their individual medical needs. Thousands of dollars have been raised by the clubs members over the last few years. On Monday December 5, a check for over $500 was presented to Margaret Graves, a representative of Indian Summer Camp.

The Indian Summer Camp is a non-profit organization founded by the Lake Cumberland District Cancer Council, an advisory group of the Kentucky Cancer Program. Indian Summer is funded entirely from the donations and gifts from individuals.

donations and gifts from individuals, civic organizations, businesses and foundations.

The Rockcastle Saddle Club has been a leader in the community in making sure they do their part in raising funds for this cause. They are looking forward to next year's fund raiser and hope they are able to raise even more for this worth, cause. even more for this worthy cause.

Mt. Vernon firefighters Chucky Gray and Ronnie Roark extinguish a blaze on 1-75 Tuesday afernoon which blocked traffic for 3 1/2 miles. An Iowa man was overcome by fumes after his camper caught fire at the 52 mile marker. The man was also towing a Toyota Camry which was severely damaged in the fire.

Reynolds wins 1995 Ford pick-up from corn assocation

Barbara Fulcher-Reynolds of Dabney Feed Supply, Willailla, has won a 1995 Ford pickup truck cour-tesy of Zeneca Ag Products. She accepted the pickup last week while members of Zeneca and Na-tional Corn Grower Association looked on.

In addition, the pickup bed was filled with Zeneca Ag Products ready to go to the field.

The truck was an F-250 4by 4 XLT

Lariat.

The National Corn Growers Association recently announced the results of its "Surpass the Goal" 1994
Membership Reccruitment program

sponsored by Zeneca Ag Products.
As noted Barbara Fulcher-Rey-nolds of Brodhead/Pulaski County was among the nation's top 10 re-Members for the NCGA and the Kentucky Corn Growers Association, the state affiliate, is at an all-time high, Kentucky recorded the highest net increase in new members for the nation in 1994. "Reynolds was our star performer;

"Reynolds was our star performer; she introduced many new people to the Kentucky Corn Growers Association. We are very proud of her for efforts," said Richard Jones, KYCGA President. Reynolds was instrumental if organizing and establishing the Pulaski? Rockeastle/Wayne Counties Corn Growers Association, a local chapter of the KyCGA, as well as promoting the KyCGA on the state level. The KyCGA is an agricultural organization which supports the production and marketing of Kerlucky corn in order to provide future profinability. Efforts are directed to market development, research, education. ketdevelopment, research, education, and promotion. Reynolds stated,

"Membership is, important so that corn producers will have a strong industry By joining the KyCGA, our that we can impact critical issues like Water Act."

Brown joins American Angus Association

Homer Brown of Roundstone, is a new member of the American Angus Association, reports Dick Spader, executive vice president of the national organization with headquarters in St. Joseph, Missouri.
