A clerk at the Shell Food Mart on Exit 59 off I-75 was robbed at knife-point early Monday morning. James E. Hensley, 20, took money and cigarettes before fleeing on foot and then being shot by the clerk, Wendell Price. Hensley was pronounced dead at the scene by Rockcastle Coroner Bill Dowell. No charges are expected to be filed against Price. The Rockcastle County Grand Jury will be presented with evidence surrounding this incident in December.

Fiscal Court again fails to buy Cedar Rapids property

At Tuesday's regular meeting of the fiscal court, a motion was presented by Carloftis, and seconded by Magistrate Ralph Allen, to purchase the Cedar Rapids property with the requirement of the county to set aside approximately 21 acres for the express purpose of constructing a sports and recreation complex.

However, once again, Magistrates Billy McKinney, William Denny and Lee Earl Adams each voted no, for various reasons. Magistrate Gary Burdette voted to buy the property. This was the second time this motion has been brought up, with the results being the exact same.

In his presentation, Carloftis assured the court that with some rearranging, there was ample room for the Sports Complex and the golf course, using the land encompassing hole 1 and the level part of 2, as well as the flat part of the driving range.

Carloftis told the court that he had been to Lincoln County and spoken with their county judge and was told that the part of their park, First Southern Veterans Park, that they are pres-(Cont. to A12)

Mt. Vernon man killed after robbing Shell station

A Mt. Vernon man was shot and killed early Monday morning after robbing the Shell Food Mart at Exit 59 off I-75.

According to state police, James E. Hensley, 20, entered the Shell station and pulled a knife on attendant Wendell Price, demanding money and cigarettes.

After fleeing with the items, Price pursued Hensley on foot and shots were fired. Hensley was pronounced dead at the scene after authorities arrived. All items taken are believed to have been recovered.

In later developments, on Monday afternoon, Kentucky State Police arrested Ruby Nicole Harvey, 20, and charged her with complicity to commit armed robbery in connection with the robbery at the Shell station.

In addition, Bobby Joe Hensley, brother of the deceased, is being sought on the charge of complicity to commit armed (Cont. to A12)

Voter turnout for Tuesday's General Election was about 25% countywide, with the Roundstone precinct, shown above, having 284 registered voters come out for the election. Although Rockcastle overwhelmingly voted Republican, Democrat Governor Steve Beshear was elected for a second term.

I just want to first say good luck to Mrs. Linda Clontz, Reese's teacher this year. He informed all of us last Friday that his favorite science subject was history.

It must have been left over effects from his teacher last year, Ms. Jamie Bryant (my sister). Obviously she failed to differentiate the subjects clearly, but he left first grade reading like a house on fire so I will forgive her that small oversight.

Jamie must be doing something right though, because in Sunday School this past Sunday one of her current students, Mr. Will Bishop, was using some scissors that she had written her name on.

When he picked them up and looked at them, he exclaimed, "Made by J. Bryant. She makes everything." He was in complete awe that his school teacher had also "made" the scissors he was using at church.

I didn't have the heart to tell him that she just likes to write her name on all of her possessions, and that I had nipped them from her Sunday School room.

Our household has been in complete upheaval since August, when our middle child, Caroline, turned 13. We officially began life with two teenage daughters and to be honest I don't know how we ever communicated before Facebook.

I find out all kinds of interesting tidbits about my children (and subsequenly their friends) that I don't think they would otherwise share because I made them friend me on Facebook..

For instance, Caroline comes up with some of the funniest sayings, and I think, "Oh, she is such my daughter," even though by looking at her you would question whether or not I was her biological mother, if you didn't know that I had actually given birth to her.

And then this past week I saw a post by Alaina where she wrote "i think i have fallen in love with George Strait."

Of course she went on to say that if, like, he wasn't, like, 100, she would, like, marry him.

I couldn't wait to tell her (meaning comment on her post) that she would have to get in line, that I saw him first way back in the 80's, and that he actually touched my hand at one of his concerts I went to when I was, like, 15, and like, so in love with him. Marcia Cain, another old mother, weighed in with her views, too.

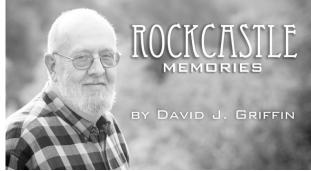

I'm sure the fact that I was once 15 and think that George Strait is still awesome will gross her out, but it is what it is.

I'm pretty sure that Marcia and I have ruined her forever on Bon Jovi, too, but again, it. is. what. it. is. I may not be 15 anymore, but I think I am going to start writing my column like. this. just. to. emphasize. my. point.

Have a safe and blessed week.

The Transistor Radio When I was about ten years of age, a revolution began in the world of electronics – the "transistor radio." This remarkable pocket-sized creation was the beginning of portable music. It was the perfect method for teenagers to listen to their newly forming music called rock and roll – no matter where they might be.

I will never forget seeing the first of these radios at a Western Auto Store on Main Street in Mt. Vernon, Kentucky. After hearing the amazing device, I was hooked. I made immediate plans to save my allowance and yard-mowing money in order to purchase my first of such electronic gadgets.

Two companies working together, Texas Instruments of Dallas, Texas, and Industrial Development Engineering Associates (I.D.E.A.) of Indianapolis, Indiana, were behind the unveiling of what they labeled the "Regency TR-1," the world's first commercially-produced transistor radio. Listeners were prone to hold the entire radio directly against the ear, in order to minimize the rather "tinny" sound of the small speakers. Most of the radios also came with an earphone jack and a single earphone that even then provided only mediocre-quality sound reproduction. (But we didn't care one bit about the quality of sound, I assure you.)

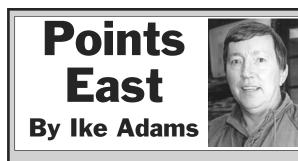

During the next few months, I stashed all of my funds in a small box located in my bedroom closet. Each week I counted my coins and bills trying to accumulate the ghastly price of $49.95 needed to purchase the Regency TR-1. It seemed like it took an eternity to save that much money, but finally I was able to gather my funds, walk into the Western Auto Store, and promptly tell the manager that I wanted to buy one of his special ra-could take it with him wherever he went. It allowed me to listen to my music far away from the adults in my family. I was in control of what I wanted to hear! I even took my new radio with me when I ventured into the woods near my home. The number of different stations that were available was limited only by the weather. If it was a crystal clear night, you could hear music from all over the country.

One night I heard Wolfman Jack spinning his tunes from a station that was incredibly far away. I wanted to wake up the entire family to experience this phenomenon – but it was way too late to bring attention to the fact that I was still awake. I simply covered my head in order to better hear the man and his music. It was indescribable excitement.

It became my routine to place the small radio under my pillow each night until I became sleepy enough to turn it off and place it on my nightstand. Sometimes I dozed off and ran down my batteries, or woke up early in the morning with the music still radiating from my pillow. My transistor radio was with me all the time, and I loved being able to listen no matter where I was. For me, it absolutely ignited my love for the new music that my older friends were listening to on the radio.

There were several technological innovations associated with the transistor radio. For the first time, radios could be turned on instantly without the need to wait for tubes to heat up before they were effective. I remember my grandfather (Pop) turning on his large, wooden, cabinet-model radio and waiting for several minutes before the sound came out of the speakers. With my transistor model, the instant you switched it on, sound was available. Power for the new radio was also new to the electronic world – the 9volt battery was introduced to be used in transistor electronics. Finally, virtually all commercial broadcast receivers, pocket-sized or not, are now transistor-based. I loved my pocket-sized radio more than any gadget that I had ever owned. I spent an enormous amount of time watching the shelves of the Western Auto Store to see if new models were available. When I was approximately 14, I saw something on the shelf that grabbed my attention. Sit-

My pal, Tom Miller, has discovered a young persimmon tree on the edge of his property just outside Berea. And I am jealous. I'm also jealous of our good friend, Jeanette Todd, who has a more mature one on her property and she has promised to show up later today with a handful or two for yours truly.

It may well be awhile before Tom has any to share because he has a thriving population of wild critters including deer, turkeys, raccoons, possums and birds that love to feed on them.

When Loretta and I bought our place some 18 years back, she fell in love with the chestnut hardwood floors while I fell in love with an ancient persimmon just past the edge of our front porch. It was the largest persimmon tree I have ever seen and it had a diameter at the base exceeding twenty inches.

It literally towered over house and it was well over forty feet tall. I don't expect to ever seen another one in that size range. The tree was well over 100 years old. Several old timers have told me that they can't remember when it was not as large as it was when we moved in.

Robins, wrens, and blue jays and even cardinals nested in it every year. We kept several finch feeders hung from the lower limbs the wonderful little birds, including purple, gold and grosbeaks lined up by the dozens to enjoy the feasts from dawn till dusk every day. We bought thistle seed 25 pounds at a time and went through several bags a year.

Squirrels and possums along with the occasional raccoon gorged themselves this time of year. And though we rarely saw one, we had deer tracks on the lawn for several weeks. I had all that I could eat and we discovered early on that coming to our place to get a bag of persimmons was a tradition that several generations of friends of previous owners enjoyed ever fall. So they became my friends too.

Unfortunately, 5 years ago a spring storm took out tree down and I mean literally uprooted it. Apparently it was hit by lightening which, combined with heavy wind was more than the old tree could handle. It fell across my garden and covered most of it so I put word out through my column that I had an abundance of persimmon wood that might interest wood workers. My phone rang off the hook.

By the end of the week the trunk, main branches and every limb an inch or more in diameter had been salvaged. I have no idea how many bowls were turned from it, but I know of two flint lock rifle stocks, a shotgun stock, pistol handles. knife handles, pencil holders, office decorations, picture frames and various trinkets that were made from the wood in my old tree. One bowl maker even gave Loretta a stunningly beautiful bowl that came from the old tree.

We also know of two bowl makers who have noted on the bottom of their wares that the source of the wood was Ike Adams, Persimmon, Paint Lick, KY Both artists sell at the Kentucky Artisans Center in Berea and I have had numerous calls from people telling me that they had no idea l had such talent and I have to explain to them that I only supplied the wood and had nothing to making the bowls and other trinkets that beau my name.

The important thing to me is that my old persim-

You have never seen anyone more proud of a purchase than I was at the time. I can remember the first night with it in my bedroom, holding the radio next to my ear as I turned the dial to locate the stations that I wanted to hear. It may seem silly now for such a small electronic device to be so exciting, but that is merely because we have all grown up in the age of quickly changing electronics. And it was this original one that really got the ball rolling for virtually everything else because of the very thing that made it so unique: the transistor.

With this new gadget, any individual could not only listen to the radio programming of his choice but (Cont. to A4)

Sometimes I think if love could have saved you, you wouldn't have died. Then I think again. The greatest love of all did save you. Our Heavenly Father's love and he called your spirit back to him, who gave it.

I looked up and saw a butterfly and I thought of God's creation and you. The butterfly was once a cocoon. I think of a grain of corn, how it must die to become a new stalk of corn. These are some of his works we can see on earth. We can't imagine all his works we can't see.

Backbone needed to stand up for county...

Dear Editor.

I think it is very noteworthy that Claretta "Carter" Hodges (who is one of the most vocal of the "do nothing" party that has recently emerged in our county), is the granddaughter of Charlie Carter who, as county judge, was criticized and probably defeated because he dared to build the much-needed courthouse and public library. It took someone with backbone to stand up to the naysayers then, as now.

I am like Barbara Bennett in wondering about these very vocal people who have, for whatever reason, moved into our county from parts unknown. They seem to know more about what we don't need to do with our tax dollars than we do. The ones I am thinking of do not have young children or parents living here so do not see the need for a recreation complex.

> Faye Adams Brodhead

Sorely disappointed... Dear Editor,

The price was right, the location right and, of course, the cause was right for our young people, so, the recent "nay" votes on the recreational complex for Rockcastle County has me thinking only one thing. There needs to be a swift change in personnel on our fiscal court. Need I say who? We all know who.

Let's all make a difference come next election day. Sincerely, Spencer Benge ting there in front of me was a new transistor radio that not only had AM channels but also had FM and Shortwave capabilities! It even had a leather case! And stereo earphones! The price tag was almost $100, and I wanted it badly.

At the time, I was riding around Mt. Vernon on my Schwinn Black Phantom bicycle. I had already started to drive Pop's automobiles so I was getting bored with my bike. I asked the owner of the store if he was interested in making a trade. He took my bike for a spin and when he returned he said he would trade the new radio even for my bicycle - if my mother agreed.

That night I explained the proposed deal to Bee, and she said the choice was mine to make. She did emphasize that the family would not be buying me another bike if I became dissatisfied with the trade. The next day I rode my bike to the Western Auto Store and came home with that new radio. I loved this model even more than I did my first. I even took it with me to UK after I graduated from high school.

I still have that radio fifty years later. And I wouldn't take the world for it. Okay, it's mostly for the sentiment of the role that it played in my young life, but it is also a small treasure from the still-developing world of electronics. And besides, I still love it.

I figure that was appropriate for the remains that found no other use.

KHEAA is excited to begin our second year as a partner in the Kentucky Colleges program. The initiative pairs future first-generation college graduates or low-income students from schools with low collegegoing rates with near-peer college coaches to provide personalized guidance and assistance through the career exploration, college application and student financial aid processes. We are once again collaborating with Northern Kentucky University, AmeriCorps, the Kentucky Commission on Community Volunteerism and Service, Berea College, and the Kentucky Campus Compact, a coalition of Kentucky college and university presidents.

The primary goal is to see more students graduate from high school and enter a postsecondary institution prepared for the social, academic and financial challenges of college. Under the

Fond Memories of Growing Up in Horseshoe Bend

I've recently spent some time with Toni Mae Smith-Mink, who grew up in Horseshoe Bend. She has shared her memories of her family and growing up there.

Her parents were Tony and Lola Mae Moore-Smith. They had built a home in Horseshoe Bend in 1936. This being the Depression era, the outside was covered with old oil cans for siding. Some commented that it was the shiniest house in Mount Vernon.

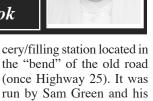

In the early 1980s, probably about 1983, Highway 461 came through and the old homeplace was lost due to the road. Toni Mae remembers there being a gro-program, recent college graduates provide college access services to the entire student population and work one-on-one with 100 students in each of 29 high schools across the state.

Chris Dressler, KHEAA program advisor, oversees day-to-day operations of the coaching staff and is looking forward to expanded reach and continued success

"This year has been an exciting year for the Kentucky College Coach Program," Dressler said. "Last year KHEAA had 25 schools that participated in the program, and this year we have increased that number to 29 site hosts. We have an amazing group of members who bring outrageous amounts of energy, time, and creativity to the role of college coach. KHEAA is proud to provide the leadership necessary for this group of talented individuals to promote college access and awareness in our participating Kentucky area high schools."

To date, initiatives undertaken by our College Coaches include, but are not limited to, ACT briefings for wife. Toni Mae was born on February 23, 1937-exactly a year to the day that her parents were married. She was raised for the most part by her maternal grandparents, George and Bertha Mae Bullock-Moore. Her grandmother did most of the "hands-on" raising. She was remembered as being very strict, as most parents were in days gone by. Bertha's father was Hamp Bullock.

Toni and her brother, Jimmy Lee Smith (born April 17, 1939) had been orphaned after their mother died in childbirth on March 29, 1942 while in labor with their brother, Lester, and their father died thirteen months later on April 16, 1943.

Some of their neighbors as she was growing up were Rosie Cromer, and Dillard and Sally Cotton. Toni and her brother were sent to stay with Rosie Cromer by their father when it was apparent that their mother was dying.

While growing up, Toni remembers Mount Vernon being a booming town and a busy place, especially on Saturdays. Now, she says, "there is nothing left to see". Once, as a child, when coming down the steps of the old courthouse, she fell down the steps and broke out her front teeth.

Her childhood days coincided with the "golden age" of Renfro Valley. Toni Mae remembers listening to the Barn Dance shows on old battery-powered radios, such as her father had. Some of the stars of the day were Doc Hopkins, and Farley and Jack Holden. It was Christmas of 1943, just after their father died, when Farley and Jack Holden drove to Toni Mae's grandparents' house. The Holdens called her and her brother to the trunk of their car. They were to choose one gift each for a Christmas present. Toni Mae chose a little doll that she named "Farley". She still has the doll. It is suspected that John Lair, knowing the family's situation, sent the Renfo Valley stars to certain families during the holiday.

Here is where we will end for this week, but we'll visit Horseshoe Bend in memory again next week.

Sweep in the holidays

This holiday season, why not try something totally different? On December 10, Berea College Master Broom Maker Chris Robbins is teaching a class on making brooms for keeping or gifting. Participants will first learn to make a broom completely by hand using only simple machines and broom corn and handles provided by the college. Once participants have honed their basic broom making skills, the real fun begins.

Participants will create their own unique brooms using handles that they bring in themselves. Robbins invites participants to be creative. As he explains, "Relatively anything can be used as a broom handle. Some examples would include walking sticks, deer antlers, chair legs, wrought iron, etc. The handle must have at least 5 inches of uncluttered space at one end to attach the broom to and should be no more than one inch in diameter."

Every participant will complete two brooms, so you could keep one for yourself and give the other as a present - or give them both as presents!

After all, this broom making workshop is part of Berea's12 Days of Christmas: Make it, Take it, Give it. From December 1 through December 12, working artist studios in Berea (including the Berea College Student Crafts Program) are opening their studios to present workshops for anyone who wants to experience the joy of creating a truly unique present made with their own hands. Berea has always been known as the best place to shop for handcrafted gifts. This year, it is also the best place to make your own handcrafted gifts. For more information on the broom making workshop and a whole menu of other possibilities, go to www.berea.com.

Strategies for controlling weight: the "plate method"

Family and Consumer Sciences Hazel Jackson

Rockcastle County Extension Office

Better health through weight control can reduce the risk of developing chronic health problems, including heart disease, high blood pressure, diabetes and some cancers. One strategy for weight control is to use the "plate method," which is a food-awareness tool that helps change habits and attitudes toward food and eating

The plate method helps you to:

•Make healthy choices •Eat more high fiber foods

•Control carbs

•Increase the amount of fruit and vegetables you consume

Start by downsizing. Your plate, that is. Oversize plates encourage oversize

Add variety and increase your nutrient intake by choosing wisely. Sweet potatoes are rich in beta-carotene and offer a change from white russet potatoes. Choose brown rice, or if your family strongly prefers white rice, select jasmine or Basmati rice, both of which are readily available in area grocery stores and are more interesting than white rice.

The remaining onefourth of your plate can be filled with a low-fat protein. Aim for 3 to 4 ounces of protein twice a day, choosing options such as chicken, turkey, fish, beef, pork, eggs or cheese. Avoid frying or sautéing meat, as this adds unnecessary and unhealthy calories. Bake, steam or broil for the best health benefits. As an alternative to meat, healthful cooked beans count as protein. Replace sugar-filled soda with a glass of low- or nonfat milk. Calcium-rich dairy products include milk, cheese, milk-based desserts such as pudding, and calcium-enriched soymilk for those who cannot consume dairy products. Cooking with low or non-fat dairy products also increases consumption of healthful dairy products. Eat fruit for dessert. Grocery stores carry a wide variety of fruit, so go beyond bananas. Apples, especially local apples, are a great choice right now, as they are in season and at their peak for crisp, delicious flavor. Ditto for late pears, blackberries and some grape varieties. Rethinking your plate can take time, so don't get discouraged. Changing habits accumulated over a lifetime will be challenging, but well worth the reward of improved health. For more information, contact the Rockcastle County Cooperative Extension Service at 256-2403. Educational programs of the Cooperative Extension Service serve all people regardless of race, color, sex, religion, disability or national origin.

servings, making it virtually impossible to prevent overeating. Choose a dinner plate that is no more than 9 inches in diameter.

Rethink how you fill your plate. Instead of loading up with large, equal portions of meat, starch and vegetables, fill half of your plate with vegetables and/or fruit. Choose non-starchy veggies, and eat both raw and cooked. Opt for salad greens, trying new varieties that are carried in major stores now, including arugula, baby spinach and mixtures of herbs and greens. Give all of them a try! In the winter, kale, collard greens and turnip greens are hearty, cost-effective choices that fill the plate. Other nonstarchy vegetables include broccoli, carrots, green beans and cauliflower.

Fill only one-fourth of your plate with grains, which includes starchy foods such as rice, potatoes or pasta. Any food made from wheat, rice, oats, cornmeal, barley or another cereal grain is a grain product. Bread, pasta, oatmeal, breakfast cereals, tortillas and grits are examples of grain products. Grains are divided into two subgroups, whole grains and refined grains. Choose whole-grain foods over refined, making at least half of your daily intake whole grain.

Rockets roll over Marion in first round of playoffs

By: Jason Coguer

The Rockets wasted no time in taking care of business as they scored on their first four possesions to dispose of Marion County 39-8 last Friday night. The Rockets were hosting a home play-off game for the first time since 2006.

Rockcastle obviously enjoyed playing in front of the home crowd as they racked up 318 yards on the ground and held the Knights to a mind-blowing negative 40 yards of total offense. The only score for Marion came late in the fourth quarter off of a fumble scoop and score.

The Rockets (9-2) will advance to the second round of the play-offs and will face Boyle County this Friday night at home. The Rebels are the defending two time state champions and bring in a record of 8-3.

Steven Thompson

started the onslaught, scoring from two yards out to put the Rockets up 8-0 after Thompson also added the two point conversion with 4:17 left in the first quarter.

After the Knights went three and out for their second straight series, the Rockets marched 55 yards that ended with a 17 yard run by B.B.Bradley to make the score 14-0 with 2:43 left in the first quarter.

The Rocket defense got in on the act as Spencer Childress came up with an interception at the Marion County 30 yard line and returned it to the fifteen. Four plays later Bradley notched his second touchdown of the game scoring from five yards out. Bradley finished with 11 carries for 74 yards. The extra point failed and the Rockets led 20-0 with 7:31 left in the second quarter.

tion continued as Marion County could not handle the Boone Saylor squib quick kick and the Rockets' Chris Luna recovered the ball at the Marion County 28. Six plays later, Corey McPhetridge found Saylor in the middle of the field and Saylor ran seven yards for the touchdown reception to give Rockcastle the 26-0 lead at the half.

Rockcastle opened the third quarter by promptly going 58 yards in 10 plays that ended with an eight yard touchdown run by Luna. Luna, who had 10 carries for 63 yards, would add another touchdown run that covered 13 yards to swell the lead to 39-0 with 2:25 left in the third.

The play-off game with Boyle County will undoubtedly rekindle some unpleasant memorie for Rocket fans. The Rebels defeated Rockcastle in back-to-back class 3A state championship games back in 2001 and 2002. The last game between the Rockets and Rebels was to open the 2009 season and the Rebels won that game 22-42 in the Bob Allen Pigskin Classic.

Task Force Childhood obesity is become an epidemic in this country, especially in rural areas like Rockcastle County. Our county has one of the highest obesity rates in the nation at 31.8%. One in three people in our county is not only over weight but is considered obese.

Obesity creates major health issues such as increased risk of diabetes or heart disease. Heart disease is the leading cause of death in this country. One in four people will die of heart disease. Only 19% of Americans get the proper amount of aerobic exercise on a daily basis. Ten percent of all Americans are considered to be in poor physical health. Thirty six percent of the citizens of our county are physically inactive. Our nation's poor health not only causes people to have a poor quality of life but it also creates an unnecessary financial burden on them and their families. Many people are spending their hard earned money on medications and doctor visits that would not be needed if they would just exercise more often. TV shows like The Biggest Loser continue to try to educate people on good nutrition and health exercise habits. Education does not help if you have no place to put it to use. The Task Force realized that we do not have adequate facilities in our county for our citizens to maintain a healthy lifestyle. A centralized health and recreation complex with indoor facilities could address the health issues of this county. One person made the comment in the Fiscal Court meeting that building a health and recreation complex would not solve our obesity issue. I agree. Insulin does not cure diabetes but if a person does not take it then they could die. Doctors write prescriptions for insulin and it is up to the patient to take it on a regular basis. The county needs to provide the facilities and it will be up to the citizens to use them to better their own health. Just like we provide safe roads to drive on we must provide proper health facilities to improve the quality of life of our citizens. We may not be able to cure the obesity problem but we sure can do our part to help fight the issue.

Providing bike/jogging tracks will allow people to get more aerobic exercise. Our seniors could walk on a flat walking track so that they could stay physically active. Providing an indoor facility would provide the opportunity for many people to continue to rehabilitate after suffering an injury or after surgery. Knee replacements are the number one orthopedic surgery performed today. Many of our citizens have had this surgery and could use a good place to rehabilitate their knees. Building playgrounds will allow our children to be more physically active just by playing and having fun. It will provide a place for them to get out of the house and enjoy a nice spring or summer day.

Providing a dog park will allow many area residents to exercise their pets so that they can stay healthy as well. A Health and Recreation Complex will provide a diverse list of physical activities that will foster a health environment for our citizens of Rockcastle County. What is the price tag of your child or grandparent's health?

JROTC competes at Whitley

The Rockcastle County JROTC Raider and Drill team traveled to Whitley County Saturday, October 8th to participate in the Whitley Raider and Color guard competition. The Raiders who participated were Felicia Boggs, Justin Houk, Megan Boggs, Shania Lawson, Ame Chiantaretto, Crystal Doan, Mark Hupp, Ryan Rawlins, Brandon Hoskins, Addison Atkin, and Zachary Horn. The color guard members were Shania Lawson, Ame Chiantaretto, Addison Atkin and Jacob Houk.

There were four events that the Raider team participated in; a Relay, Mystery event, Raider Challenge, and Tug of war. During the Relay four cadets ran a quarter of a mile each which equaled one mile all together. The Mystery event included a litter carry, buddy carry, a sand bag pass, a water jug pass, a tire flip up and down a hill, walk together on two wooden planks, and half mile run up hill. The Raider Challenge consisted of a rope bridge, walls, low crawls, monkey bars, hurtles, and a rope swing.

The Drill team took a Color guard to compete at Whitley. The color guard had to march on a drill floor in front of several graders. Marching is no easy task and takes a lot of practice. Although they did not bring home a trophy, they tried their best and made it through the competition.

Both teams worked hard at the competition and at their team practices. The Raider Team brought home two trophies. They placed 1st in the Relay and 2nd in the Mystery Event. The JROTC program would like to give a special thanks to Mrs. Holly Robinson for chaperoning.

only middle school in the state to be awarded the Winners' Circle honor.

The ten were selected in a four-phase process. In Phase I, schools that reached the minimum 50 percent survey response rate threshold were identified. In Phase II, student test scores from the 2010-11 school year were analyzed, and a cut-off point was set to ensure that successful schools continued to the next phase of selection. In Phase III, schools were examined for details regarding their TELL Kentucky results, as well as other criteria (such as school safety), using a rubric designed by the New Teacher Center and the TELL Kentucky Advisory Team. Phase IV schools met all of the minimum criteria for selection, and the Advisory Team reviewed these to select 49 exemplary schools across the state.

From the 49 Honorable Mentions, one school in each of Kentucky's State Board/Judicial Districts, two at-large schools and one area technology school were awarded the Winners' Circle honors. Winning schools and Honorable Mentions will be used as examples of best practices for other schools across the state.

In March 2011, Gov. Steve Beshear and Education Commissioner Terry Holliday provided the opportunity for educators to share information about the conditions in their schools and the supports needed to do their jobs well. The TELL Kentucky survey was administered by the New Teacher Center, a national non-profit dedicated to improving student learning by accelerating the effectiveness of teachers and school can be used to enhance school improvement efforts. The Kentucky Board of Education is using the results of the 2011 TELL Kentucky Survey in policy discussions and has included a request for continuation of this initiative in its 2012-2014 biennial budget request. The Kentucky Department of Education also is using the findings to guide its assistance to persistently low-achieving schools.

would not lie fallow for as much as ten years before being able to be used."

Cummins told the court that the benefits of his property, if purchased for a sports complex,would be that it is adjacent to the high school and runs along the city limits of Mt. Vernon, possibly helping it qualify for more grants than the Cedar Rapids property.

The Cumminses are asking $8,750 an acre for the approximate 100 acres, which, according to Cummins, is "comparable to what was paid for the high school property 20 years ago." Cummins went on to tell the court that they are willing to take a partial payment and offered a matching interest rate that the court would receive from another entity to finance the purchase.

Later in the meeting Cummins asked the court if it would be possible to purchase both the Cedar Rapids property to be used as a public golf course and swimming pool and also his property for the sports complex, but no comment was made by the court on this suggestion.

Carloftis presented the motion to purchase the Cedar Rapids Recreation Center in written form, for the magistrates to read. In addition to the motion stating that the county would be required to set aside acreage for the express purpose of a sports complex, the motion went on to say that, "the payment of approximately $406,000 will be made directly to the bank in Stanford for the property, and that no present or past member of the Cedar Rapids Recreation Center will receive any reward, payment, other or renumerations from these proceeds."

After each magistrate voted, the Judge asked them to comment on their vote and McKinney stated, "You (Carloftis) said we were elected as stewards of county funds and I don't believe this is the best use of our money."

Magistrate Allen, who seconded the motion made by Carloftis to buy the property stated, "I believe I am looking to the future of our county and its children."

Magistrate Adams stated, "I don't think it is the right place for the sports with their costs. The magistrates wanted more time to think about Dean's request or any way they could help out the constables without causing liability to the county and tabled the discussion.

The magistrates also approved a $20,000 supplement to the Sheriff's office for an expected shortfall through the end of the year.

up of teachers, administrators, and parent/teacher organization members, will also be formed during this time.

The screening committee will look at all of the applications that are submitted and forward on to the board those they think are best qualified to be superintendent. The board will then interview candidates and a new superintendent should be hired by April 15th.

In other business, the board approved all submitted school trips and fundraisers, as well as family and medical leave of absences for Cortney Vance, Gladys Carpenter and John Tyler.

The board also approved a contractual agreement for consultation and advisory services to the school health program with Dr. Kimberly Cornelius for the 2011-12 school year. Dr. Cornelius will be a volunteer consultant and in that capacity agreed to read manuals and advise school staff as needed in regard to school health policies and procedures and to advise and consult for the total school health program. S u p e r i n t e n d e n t Hammond presented his personnel actions for the month of October, which included hiring Irene Alexander as a substitute teacher, and Lindsay Gabbard as Assistant Girls Cross Country - Track Coach. Hammond also accepted the retirement of RES Secretary Darlene Pensol.

ently using encompasses about 25 acres and contains 8 soccer fields, 2 football fields, a quadrangle of baseball fields (4 fields) and acreage including sidewalks, roads, and parking lots.

He also told the court that the Sports Complex would be controlled by a county Parks and Recreation Authority, which would be appointed by the fiscal court.

Several people spoke in favor of purchasing the Cedar Rapids property, including Rockcastle School Superintendent Larry Hammond who told the court, "we have to get past the notion of it (the Cedar Rapids property) just helping a few."

In speaking of a Recreation and Wellness Center in itself, Hammond also told the court, "There is something in this for everyone if you want to improve the quality of life for the citizens of Rockcastle County."

Although Carloftis mentioned to the court that another property was available, and gave one of the property owners, Mark Cummins, a chance to speak on behalf of his property, Carloftis told the court, "The Cedar Rapids property is the only property that complex, but I am not saying I am against a sports complex."

Carloftis then asked the court if any of them would like to make a motion to purchase the Cummins property for the sports complex, but each of the magistrates agreed that they would need to look more closely at the Cummins property and what would be needed to make it usable as a sports complex.

McKinney stated, "The purchase price is only part of it. We would need to see the costs for excavation and everything else before making that decision."

At the end of the discission, Carloftis appointed Magistrates Adams, Denny and McKinney to form a committee to find a more viable plan for a sports complex than the one presented at the meeting, and they had until the end of January to come up with another option.

Magistrate McKinney, tongue-in-cheek, asked Carloftis if he was going to "smack their hands" if they didn't come up with something by the end of January, and Carloftis told McKinney that they would have to cross that bridge when they came to it, "But we will see if you really want a sports complex as much as you say you do."

In other business, the magistrates voted to reduce the speed limit on Little Hurricane Branch Road to 20 mph, and Constable Richard Dean's wife, Donna Dean, asked the court to allow the constables to put their vehicles in the county's name. She stated that her husband had answered over 400 calls since he took office in January, and this would help them group has been performing the musical "Dead Serious...About Life" which deals with many issues that teens have to deal with. The underlying subject matter is teenage suicide. The group wrote the script. The music and lyrics were written especially for Mishpachah by Mr. Jay Banks.

"Dead Serious...about life" is a musical written to appeal to teenagers. It is upfront...it is blunt...it is life! The story begins at Todd and Stephanie's house. Mom and Dad have left for the weekend, so let the party begin! Throughout the course of the evening, you will meet the characters with their different personalities, their numerous problems and their view about their lives. "Dead Serious" will expose us all to the issues of abortion, alcohol, drugs, religion, sex and suicide...issues that all too often we don't want to talk about or face. Well, hang onto your seat, ' cause this musical cuts it wide open. It will make you laugh, cry, hurt, fear and feel...but most of all "Dead Serious" will make you take a second look at life.

In the past, the group has performed at various churches, civic organizations, youth events, Cincinnati Convention Center, various church camps, Eden Park, shopping malls, numerous high schools, Six Flags Over Mid America, Kings Island Amusement Park, and Disney World. They have toured to: Florida, Arkansas, Colorado, Texas, North & South Carolina, Indiana, Missouri, Illinois, Michigan, Kentucky, Tennessee, New York, Virginia, Georgia, Wisconsin, Louisiana, Ala bama and Ohio. The group has performed this musical for more than 100,000 people and has counseled over 8000 young people following their performances. Not only has this ministry changed the lives of those teens who participate, but thousands of others who have had the opportunity to see this production. Roundstone Literacy Night is a big success

On Thursday, October the 27th Roundstone Elementary held its Family Literacy Night. There were information sessions in each grade for the parents to learn what their children are doing in literacy. There were also six fun activity rooms for the families. The most popular activities were making your own bookmark and the book walk room. Each child was given a bag of goodies, including a free book. Most of the rooms also gave out prizes of books. After the activities families headed into the lunchroom for a chili supper and to hear storyteller Octavia Sexton tell her

Minds in the Middle

We invite all veterans and their families to our annual Veterans Day celebration on Friday, Nov. 11th. The festivities will begin at 11:00 with a reception, followed by the program. Call RCMS for more information at 256-5118.

We thank the RCMS Leadership Team and RCMS Unite Club for joining forces to raise money for the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society's Pennies for Patients. $1,000 was raised in spare change to help patients with blood cancers. The Leadership Team also sold M&M "Boograms" on Monday and raisedover $200 for St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital. Thanks RCMS for showing that we care about others!

We greatly enjoyed the annual spooky storytelling last week from Mr. Shawn Burdette and his frightful assistants. Also very popular last week, was the spooky concert by the RCMS Choir and Band.

Next Monday will be high attendance day at RCMS. All students who are present will be in a drawing to "Dash for Cash." These students will be given ten seconds to collect as "haint tales" (ghost stories). Many children dressed up for the costume contest as well. Even with all the rain over 100 people attended this event and everyone appeared to have a great evening.

Literacy Night is to encourage families to get involved with their children's school and to bring what we do at school into their homes. We want our children to become life-long learners and to find joy in reading and all learning. Without the support of our families this cannot be possible. We hope to see you all and more for Literacy Night in the spring.

Children dressed up as story book characters enjoy the book walk.

FFA holds Freshman Greenhand ceremony

Submitted by Chapter Reporter, Sarah Pigg On September 26th, the seats of the Rockcastle County High School auditorium were filled with several extraordinary people. Many may think that I am referring to a politician or celebrity, but I'm not. However, these people are leaders. They have proven themselves to their peers and advisors, inspired those around them, and most importantly they have worked diligently to take the next step towards their future. These special people that I'm talking about are the Rockcastle County FFA Chapter Freshman Greenhand recipients. It takes a great deal of dedication for one to receive their Greenhand Degree. Freshman must be enrolled in an agriculture course, be a member of the FFA, have memorized and recited the FFA creed, have a knowledge of the history of the FFA and its official colors, know the FFA motto, and have planned their Supervised Agricultural Experience Program (an out of class project).

During the ceremony, committee chairmen conducted two contests that allowed freshmen the opportunity to compete. First on the agenda was the Creed Speaking Contest. This competition requires that members recite all five paragraphs of the creed in front of several judges, as well as their peers. Avery Bradshaw placed 1st, followed by Tabatha Cromer in 2nd. The next competition held was the FFA Quiz Contest, which required participants to have thorough knowledge and understanding of the FFA's history. Sharla Kidwell placed 1st and Shelby Ponder placed 2nd.

We would like to thank the following Kentucky State FFA Officers for attending and helping with the Creed Speaking Contest: Kendall Mallory, Cameron Earlywine, and Brian Welch. We would also like to thank everyone who came to the ceremony in support of our chapter. Congratulations to all Greenhand recipients and good luck with all that you do in your FFA career.

Tiger Pause

The Chautauqua group is the feature of this week's Majors and Minors classes at Brodhead Elementary School. The third and fourth grade members of this group have researched historical figures in order to create short monologues. Students shared these monologues, as famous historic figures, last week with parents and primary students.

Students from Brodhead Elementary participated in Red Ribbon Week, supporting their Unite efforts to live a healthy, drug free life. The 4th and 5th grade students kicked off Red Ribbon Week by placing posters in Brodhead's local businesses encouraging community involvement to unite against drugs.

Students recognized during circle time as Students of the Week were, people. We would like to thank our Alumni for providing the food and thank Sherri and Steve McKinney for grilling the hamburgers and hotdogs. We would also like to thank Kentucky State Officers, Cameron Earlywine, Brian Welch, and Jessica Gambrel for attending.

Congratulations to each member who placed in the Ag Olympics and Bow Shoot and thanks to all who came out and showed support of our chapter.

Rocket Carpet Cleaners

Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...

What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?

Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.

Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work? A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150* degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.

B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.

The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria gravith and remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.

Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?

C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.

D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.

E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.

The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is Priced at $29,500.

Cameron's Holsteins win at Ky. State Fair

Billy Cameron III met with great success in August at the Kentucky State Fair in Louisville while showing his Holstein cattle. Cameron came home with four first place winners, Junior Champion and Honorable Mention Junior Champion of the heifer show and Grand Champion and Reserve Grand Champion of the cow classes.

He was also awarded Supreme Grand Champion of all cow breeds represented in the FFA and 4-H Shows. His cow, Cameron Ridge Lasita, was exhibited by his uncle and was also chosen Senior Champion, Grand Champion and Supreme Champion in the open show division over all other breeds.

In October, Billy also attended the World Dairy Expo in Madison, Wisconsin where he exhibited his Junior Heifer Calf and was chosen the winner over the other 20+ calves in his class. He competed against calves from all over the U.S., Canada and Mexico.
