Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

Frankfort Report...

By Jared Carpenter,
State Senator

Every 10 years after each national census, Kentucky’s Constitution requires the State Legislature to realign our voting districts according to population. The Governor called the Legislature back into Special Session to accomplish just this. The 34th senatorial district is now made up of Madison and Rockcastle counties with a portion southern Fayette. The new plan in the Senate divides the minimum number of counties and no precincts. It is not a partisan, politically driven map, no incumbents are drawn together, and the map meets all the tenets of a constitutionally correct redistricting plan.

I am pleased to have the chance to keep representing the people of Rockcastle County. It has been a pleasure to work alongside your community in efforts to promote real economic development, defend the values important to the area, and work to combat prescription drug abuse. No matter what the outcome would have been from redistricting, I was eager to keep working on behalf of the Rockcastle community.

Costs of special sessions are a concern that many Kentuckians have and I certainly share those concerns. Since the Legislature was scheduled to be in Frankfort, Senate and House Leadership decided to move all of the August interim committee meetings to the week of session, in order to offset the cost of a Special Session. This included the Natural Resources and Energy Committee which I chair. We had an informational meeting about the economic impact of the natural gas and oil industrial on Kentucky. This sector has grown significantly both in production and job creation and become a viable economic driver.

At the conclusion of the special session, the Governor signed House Bill 1, the redistricting bill. With the special session in the books,

I will continue my committee work in Frankfort and prepare for the regular session in January. I can be reached through the Legislative Research Commission’s toll-free message line at 1-800-372-7181. You can also check the committee schedule and learn more about what the committees are doing at www.lrc.ky.gov.

Local band holds free concert to celebrate release of their second album

By: Doug Ponder

A local Christian rock band held a free CD release concert for their second album last Thursday night at the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame in Mt. Vernon.

7eventh Time Down's new album "Just Say Jesus" was released on Tuesday in stores and online. Fans who attended the free CD release concert were able to purchase a CD before the album release date and have it autographed after the concert by band members: Mikey Howard (vocals and rhythm guitar), Eric VanZant (lead guitar), Cliff Williams (bass) and Austin Miller (drums).

The album contains ten songs, including the band's hit single "Just Say Jesus" which recently climbed into the top 20 on several different Christian music billboard charts.

7eventh Time Down vocalist and rhythm guitarist Mikey Howard said they are all excited to have finally become a mainstream Christian rock band after all their years of hard work. However, he said their main goal is not to only be a successful band but to more importantly spread the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Howard said that he, Eric VanZant and Austin Miller started their first band in 1996, while students at Rockcastle County Middle School and that Cliff Williams joined the band once he moved to Mt. Vernon while they were students at Rockcastle County High School. He said their band broke up in high school and they were all members of different bands before reuniting after graduating high school.

"We all kind of bounced around in different bands in high school but after we all graduated we got back together," Howard said. "Every one of us had decided that the music ministry is what God wanted us to do so we all sold pretty much everything we had and

RCIDA discusses amended lease with SourceHOV

At Monday's meeting of the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority, the board discussed an amended lease with SourceHOV.

The original lease, signed with SourceCorp in August of 2009, contained a clause specifying that the company must employ 235 workers for a period of three years and levied a penalty if that goal were not met. There was also a rent credit in another clause providing that the goal of 235 employees plus 50 were met and sustained for one year.

Currently, RCIDA says that the goal was not met and the penalty to the company is between $50,000 and $60,000. However, the collection process has been going on for almost two years at this point.

SourceHOV, which is a global company, has asked that these clauses be removed from the amended lease and the square foot charge raised to offset this particular source of income to RCIDA. This is the only lease of its type in the company's global network and their accounting procedures are not set up to accommodate payment of the penalty.

At Monday's meeting, Executive Director Holly Hopkins was given the authority to negotiate the new monthly rental fee. The company currently pays $12.19 per sq. ft. or $25,395.83 per month. The entire amount is applied to the debt at Community Trust Bank for construction of the building.

RCIDA did agree to reimburse SourceHOV for $60,000 in alterations/improvements to the building required by federal regulations. The reimbursement will take the form of a $3,000 per month rent credit for 20 months and a start date of August 2015 for commencement of the rent credit was offered by

Saturday's storms puts brief damper on Livingston Homecoming

By: Doug Ponder

A severe storm system rolled through Rockcastle County last Saturday putting a brief damper on the activities during Livingston Homecoming.

Livingston Mayor Jason Medley said the high winds and heavy rains caused some of the spectators and vendors to leave early Saturday afternoon. He said a lot of vendors also lost merchandise and had their tents blown away in the storm.

Medley said they were fortunate that they didn't have to cancel any of the events and only had to postpone one event for thirty minutes. He said a lot of people returned for the festivities and live music once they saw that the homecoming events were continuing as planned.

"We only had to postpone the live music for about thirty minutes while

Brodhead man is renowned horse trainer

By: Kelsey Mattingly

On a small farm in Rockcastle County sits a riding barn and obstacle course where a Brodhead man, and former State Police officer, now full-time horse trainer, Gary Lane, says he is bringing in business and tourism to Rockcastle County that has benefited us in more ways than one.

With his success and experience at Windswept Stables, in the southwest area of the county, Lane said he has been able to attract horses and their riders from all over the world. He said that training horses and working with Calvary Officers in the State Police has allowed him to become a certified Natural Horsemanship Clinician, who works to train riders as well as their horses.

Whether he is inviting in newcomers and their horses to experience our abundance of beautiful farmland or traveling the world and expanding his business, Lane is one busy man who has proven that you can do whatever you are passionate about with a "little help from the Lord and a really good horse."

Having hosted clinics in states such as Tennessee, Indiana, Ohio, and several New England states, Lane said that Rockcastle County is by far the most beautiful place to train.

"I've trained horses in all the United States, including other countries. You will be hard pressed to find a prettier place than Rockcastle County," Lane said. "We just take it for granted because we see it every day. For example, the Red Hill Horse Camp is a beautiful place to experience Rockcastle County."

"Students that come to our county always have good

Points East

By Ike Adams

I need to find me one of those tee-shirts, or maybe a sweat shirt, or maybe both, that has emblazoned in big bold letters, front and back, the following message:

I DARE YOU TO ASK ME ABOUT MY GRANDKIDS.

Because I figure that if you ask first I won't feel guilty about bringing up the subject of one or the other of them in the middle of any conversation about any other subject.

For example, you might ask me what I think about Obama Care and I'd probably respond by saying, "let me tell you about the trick Tyler pulled in his tee-ball game last Thursday."

Or you might ask what I think we ought to do to the tyrants in Syria and I'll say, "Well, I asked my two-year old granddaughter if she could count to ten and she said yep, uno, dos, tress, cuarto, sinco, sies, siete, ocho, nueve, diez." I swear to you that happened a couple of weeks ago when my daughter, Geneva Marie (Genny) her husband, Scott Tesh and their three kids, Mazzen, Ramzy and Isabel (Izzy) were here for a visit from Houston.

The woman who runs Izzy's day-care place speaks Spanish so the kid is going to be bi-lingual before she's in kindergarten. In the meantime, back to Tyler.

Daughter Jennifer and her husband, Kevin Ochs, live in Richmond and they have two boys. If you read this column regularly, you already know all about preschooler, Tyler Kane, better known in this space as TKO and our exploits on behalf of the American Diabetes Association. Big brother, second grader, Braden, gets short shrift in the press but even he would not want the attention if it meant being afflicted with juvenile diabetes and the blood tests and insulin injections his little brother has to deal with 24-7.

Both of the Ochs boys are on fall baseball teams. Dad, Kevin is a coach on both teams. Mom leads the cheerleading squad consisting of Grandmas Peggy and Loretta and Grandpa Ike. So I don't suppose I need to tell you that all of us will be at the Lake Reba athletic fields, there in Richmond, every Tuesday and Thursday night until the end of September. I'd rather be there than in the dugout at a Red's game because it's far more entertaining.

In Braden's league, the players have to hit pitched balls--pitched by Coach Dad—whose earnest desire is that every kid on the team gets a hittable pitch every time the ball crosses the plate. But there's still a lot of strike outs. On the other hand, there's a lot of fielding errors so making contact with the ball usually put the batter on base. This is not just Grandpa bragging here. Braden knocks the fire out of that ole ball and he can haul his little behind around the base path.

Tyler's league, of course, hits the ball off a stationary "tee", usually into the infield where up to a dozen fielders try to pounce on it at the same time. But no matter where the ball is hit, the batter only gets to take one base unless he or she is the last batter at the bottom of the inning, in which case it's an automatic home run unless, by some rare occurrence, the ball is actually fielded and he gets tagged out.

That's the situation TKO found himself in last Thurs-

Tabletop Jukeboxes

Remember the table-top jukeboxes that we fed our allowances to when we were beginning our teenage years? I recently read an article on the internet about how popular these nickel-eating machines were in the late 50's and early 60's. The story explained: "We put our nickels in the machine, and our songs played on the main jukebox in the back of the room."

First of all, the story reminded me of the financial times of those two decades when you could cough up a quarter and hear six songs of your choice. Today in some restaurants and bars, the jukeboxes are the new-fangled types with a touchscreen which allows for browsing through a vast library of artists and songs. The cost for two songs in these present establishments is a whopping $1.00. Some of the more popular songs actually cost a dollar just to play alone. Most of those same songs can be downloaded from the internet for 99 cents, enabling you to have them available for life. One guy in the article noted, "I love rock and roll but not enough to pay a dollar per song." I emphatically agree.

My first memory of a tabletop jukebox was at Kelsey's Restaurant on Main Street in Mt. Vernon when I was just twelve years of age. Kelsey's was our favorite hangout when we were merely beginning to listen to rock and roll music. Those were the days of Elvis, Roy Orbison, Jerry Lee Lewis, The Platters, Johnny Mathis, Buddy Holly, and even Pat Boone.

Rock music was just getting a strong-hold on teenagers, and our desire to hear and be a part of the music was overpowering. We pooled our allowances and took turns selecting our favorite artists, collectively listening while hanging out in one of our favorite spots. During that time, we ate potato chips (dipped in catsup) and washed them down with those classic bottles of Coke. On rare occasions, we moved en masse to the back of the eating establishment and danced to our music.

Jukeboxes were most popular from the 1940s through the mid-60s, particularly during the 1950s. The popularity of jukeboxes is often associated with early rock and roll music. The displays of bright lights with the color animation made them a hit with our age group. It was from jukeboxes that we often heard the newest songs first. The machines were programmed to record the number of times a song was selected. It was one of the first means of recognizing the true popularity of rock and roll music. It was the Seeburg Corporation that introduced an all 45-rpm vinyl jukebox in 1950, which led to the 45-rpm record becoming the dominant jukebox media for the last half of the 20th century.

Some of my friends and I took note of the days when the jukebox man was scheduled to come by to change out the records. He often gave us the scratched records which he needed to replace because of their condition. To us, that was a real treat. We took them home and played them on our own hi-fis. Free records were not easy to find, and we took advantage of his generosity. Some of those records had so many scratches that we could hardly recognize the songs. But we didn't care—we listened anyway. It was rock and roll!

For some of us who were there, Buddy Holly and The Platters will never sound as good as they did when they were blasting from the huge speakers of a jukebox. By 1956, there were approximately 750,000 jukeboxes swallowing nickels in the United States. It was the place to find the hits we wanted to hear. In Rockcastle County those unique places included: Kelsey's, The Dinner Bell, and (of course) Hamm's Drive-In. We kept the roads hot between these teenage hangouts.

By the late 50s, most of us had purchased our own stereo systems and our own 45 rpm records. It was then that we began to congregate at our parents' various homes in order to listen to our music and to dance. But we all got our start listening to our favorite jukeboxes. Some of us can still picture the fabulous Wurlitzers,

Last week the question was about station uniforms and how much heat they were to withstand for a 5 minute period. I gave you 4 choices as answers for the question. Did you guess correctly? The answer is 500 degrees. According to the National Fire Protection Association or NFPA 1975, the Standard on Station/Work/Uniforms for Fire and Emergency Services, requires that no garment will ignite, melt, drip or separate when exposed to heat at 500 degrees for 5 minutes.

Before I move on to the pants of the turnout gear, I need to mention the protective hood we wear. The protective hood or what is usually referred to as a Nomex hood, protects the firefighters ears neck and face. It is generally referred to as a Nomex hood because that is the material it is commonly made from. However it can be made from Kevlar, PBI or other fire resistant material. Protective hoods are used in conjunction with a self-contained breathing apparatus or SCBA face piece. Once the face piece is on the hood goes over your head for protection. Hoods come in a variety of colors and firefighters often purchase one that go with their own style.

Turnout pants or bunker pants are made the same as turnout coats. They have the 3 barriers just as the turnout coat does. Bunker pants come with suspenders that help hold up the pants. New bunker pants are now coming with a belt around the waist and some firefighters are opting not to wear suspenders and rely on the belt. Bunker pants can come with options as well. You can have lumbar support added to help support your back. Typically bunker pants come with a pocket on each leg to store gear in but you can opt to get a pocket at your ankle to store a tool or two. While I was at the academy in Lexington, I was told by a Battalion Chief to fill your pockets because you never know what you are going to need. The Battalion Chief has since retired but I still have my pockets full.

A couple of other pieces complete the turnout gear ensemble. First is the hand protection or gloves. The most important part of a structural firefighting glove is that they provide protection against heat, steam or cold and they are resistant to cuts, punctures and liquid absorption. Another glove that I use is a rescue glove. I

Timothy Martin

To One In Sorrow
Let me come in where you are weeping, friend,
And let me take your hand.
I, who have known a sorrow such as yours,
Can understand.
Let me come in -- I would be very still
Beside you in your grief;
I would not bid you cease your weeping, friend,
Tears can bring relief.
Let me come in -- I would only breathe a prayer,
And hold your hand,
For I have known a sorrow such as yours,
And understand.

Recent upgrades to boat dock are a welcome sight...

Dear Editor,

I want to congratulate the City of Mt. Vernon, Mayor Bryant, and the new operators of the boat dock, Teresa and Lester Radcliff on the recent improvements to the Lake Linville area. I have lived at the lake for over fifteen years and have always thought it was an under utilized resource for Rockcastle County.

The recent upgrades to the parking facilities at the boat dock, the beautiful new restaurant and in particular, the improvements to the playground are a welcome sight. I have seen many parents with their children at the new playground and my grandson loves to play basketball at the recently installed basketball goal which was donated by the Rockcastle Kiwanis club.

Lake Linville is a beautiful resource for all of us and I am very pleased that Mt. Vernon is taking steps to keep it that way. I encourage everyone to come out and enjoy our own little bit of heaven.

Pleased with progress toward activities for children...

Dear Editor,

As a parent of a child who is less than 4 years-old, I would like to point out a relatively small but significant change in our community that I hope points toward even more progress. I am very pleased to note, after living in Mount Vernon for several years, progress toward providing activities for our children.

The construction of a new boat playground near Lake Linville was a brilliant idea. It is a valuable addition to the community, especially for those of us who have no extended family in this county and who have little children not yet of school age. Since the construction of the playground, the number of parents bringing their children to the new facility to play outside has increased dramatically. It is a great place for social interaction for the children and for mutual parental support. I have spoken with many parents since the addition of the new play area and they are uniformly complimentary of the changes. Children too often are forgotten in the search for progress.

I would like to thank Mount Vernon Mayor Mike Bryant for making it possible for our children to have a new and safe place to play and I, like many parents, am looking forward to more additions to the community that will benefit our little ones. Thank you, Mayor Bryant for your leadership and service to our community.

Sincerely,
Silvia Coldiron

day evening. Bases loaded. Tyle ris the last batter. Grandpa yells, “kill that ole ball TKO!! You da man!!” The Grandmas plead, “you can do it Tyler” and clap their hands.

My champ stands away from the tee, takes a few practice cuts, steps back up to the tee and scowls until the ball has been properly stared down. And then he connects with the ball on his first mighty swing. The ball has not been hit this hard all evening and it goes though the defense like a bullet through a hornets’ nest.

“Run Tyler! RUN! RUN! RUN!” But TKO needs no encouragement. He’s off like as shot. He passes the first of his fellow base runners at second and picks up speed. He passes the next one just after rounding third. If he’d had another three steps he would have beat the whole pack home.

Okay, I admit that this was not in strict adherence to the rules of the game but hey, it’s tee ball for crying out loud and they don’t keep score so what are they gonna do? I give the kid two thumbs up. Tyler grins and nods his head and mouths, “I know.” And I’m thinking that life doesn’t get much better than this.

Coming next week, The Lone Star Kids raid Paint Lick.

“On Call”

use these gloves in vehicle accidents or rope rescue. These gloves do not provide the same protection as structural firefighting gloves but they do provide protection from cuts and punctures. They allow for more dexterity and tactile feel of the tools. This is important when you are tying a knot in a rope or making a cut on a vehicle.

The last piece of the puzzle is the foot protection and is one of the most important pieces. You can imagine what we as firefighters walk and step on during a structure fire. There is fallen debris, glass, nails and copious amounts of water on the floor. There are 2 styles a firefighter can wear, leather or rubber. Rubber boots are the more traditional style and are very reliable however leather boots are now very popular amongst firefighters. Leather boots are more comfortable than rubber. If you are going to be at a structure fire scene for hours you definitely want your feet to be comfortable. While you are in the academy at Lexington you are issued a pair of rubber boots because it is tradition. While rubber boots are comfortable, they are not as comfortable as leather boots. At least in my opinion. Both styles provide the same protection. They must keep your feet dry and protect you from burns, punctures, cuts and crushing injuries. The boots have a steel plate on the bottom to protect you from these injuries.

Well that is the complete turnout gear worn for structural firefighting. Other types of turnout gear include wildland, aircraft firefighting, hazardous materials and technical rescue gear. Personal protective equipment is designed for a specific purpose. You would not want to wear structural turnout gear to fight a wildland fire or wear a hazardous materials suit for technical rescue.

Next week I am going to discuss the Self Contained Breathing Apparatus or SCBA. I am also going to talk about some of the atmosphere we encounter in a structure fire. For this week’s question let’s focus on an SCBA question. Brodhead uses Scott air packs as our primary SCBA. The cylinders on our air packs are designed to hold how many minutes of air? Is it 20 minutes, 30 minutes, 45 minutes or 60 minutes? The answer next week.

True Southern Exposure Answering the Call

Submitted By:
Melinda Alcorn

I am proud to be a part of Rockcastle County. We have some amazing people who live in these parts. In recognition of a few, here is an update on the goings on with ASPI and the Mt. Vernon Community Garden.

The ASPI 2013 Summer Youth Internship Program second session has come to an end. The youth participants set out on a journey and made some huge accomplishments. They showed work ethic in all they did and I hope had some fun while participating. We learned much from having them around and their impact was a lasting positive one.

The youth contributed to the Community Garden, helped with the Sunflower Forest, dedicated to Leon Davidson and Allen Pensol. They experienced vending at the local Farmer's Market. Trips were taken to Grow Appalachia sites at Grimaldo Farm, Berea College and Laurel County African-American Heritage Center. During these trips, the students were exposed to cultural diversity.

Best practices for gardening and significance of cover crops, were accentuated along with different methods and perspectives on farming and community gardens.

The importance of buy local campaigns was discussed. The Internship program provided firsthand experience working inside the non-profit world. Weeding and weed control methods were explored. Plant diversity and the benefits of such were covered. The students learned and repeated work on trellising, including the Florida Weave for Tomatoes, tee pees and support systems in place. Some of the youth canned and preserved food. The students worked with peers and Centre College interns. ASPI and Grow Appalachia would like to thank The RCHS staff and the Board of education for getting behind this program and making it a huge success.

In other ASPI news, a special shout out to Jack Weaver, Chris Mason, and Mayor Jason Medley for organizing an event for the Mt. Vernon Community Garden. Thanks to all who came out August 22nd to turn the shed; it was a sight to behold, with the cooperation of the Livingston and Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue Squads plus a few other emergency responders. Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue broke out the Jaws of Life and the men worked as a team to turn the shed now facing in the correct position for the roof to receive southern light exposure. We are ready for Josh Bills, of MACED, to install the solar panel.

To round out the update, we were happy to host the Rockcastle Garden Club's August 26th meeting. I was impressed and honored to have them at the Mt. Vernon Community Garden. Great conversations exist among such good people. Sheila Neal even prepared a beautiful dish on the spot. She gave us the pleasure to smell and taste a wonderful summer tomato salad. We cleansed our pallet with cake afterwards.

We are blessed to have a few thriving local business people as long time supporters: Lester Kirby's Tree Service, Lone Star, Dogwood Gifts and Garden, and Collins Backhoe and Hauling. Thanks for making our soil rich.

Ever notice how being around positive people is uplifting? If that is true then so is the opposite. Surround yourself with people that have pure intentions. Let us be the encouragers for the best tomorrow we can imagine.

Join us on Face book; Rockcastle Garden Club and Mt. Vernon Community Garden.

Rockets fall to West Jessamine in Jamboree Bowl

By: Doug Ponder
The Rockcastle County Rockets football team lost to the West Jessamine Colts last Friday night 48-19 in the annual Jamboree Bowl.

Last Friday's game was the second straight year the Rockets have lost in the Jamboree Bowl and it was only the third time in the bowl's 23 year history that the Rockets lost the bowl game.

The Rockets outgained their opponent on offense with a total of 405 yards to the Colts 346. However, their inability to get the ball into the end zone would prove to be the deciding factor in the loss as they failed to score on three different occasions while they were inside their opponent's 20 yard line.

Head Coach Scott Parkey said the loss was disheartening for him and his team as they outgained their opponent in total yards on offense but still lost the game due primarily to not being able to push the ball over while deep in West Jessamine's territory.

"We were inside the red zone several times and came out empty. We can't miss opportunities like that to score on offense and expect to win games," Parkey said. "We have been working all week on our red zone offense to correct this problem. I believe it will turn around though and everything will click within the next few weeks."

Parkey said his staff had a good defensive plan going into the game and that he thought the players did a good job executing the plan. However, Parkey said several missed tackles, bad reads and blown opportunities for turnovers hurt them as the game continued.

"The defense played great but they struggled on stopping them on third and long when we had their backs against the wall," Parkey said. "We also dropped a couple of interceptions for touchdown opportunities as well. Momentum swings like that can be huge and we will be working in practice on taking advantage of turnover

Offensively, the Rockets were led by senior quarterback Corey McPhetridge who was 27 of 43 passing for 293 yards and one touchdown with one interception.

Junior Chance Ansardi led the Rockets in rushing with 60 yards and one touchdown. Junior Isaiah Adams rang up 38 yards, senior Jacob Bussell got 9 yards with one touchdown and senior Brandon Jones had 5 yards.

Senior John Hughes had a record-breaking night offensively as he tied the school record for most receptions in a game with 11 catches for 159 yards and one touchdown. Former Rocket receiver Josh Hale previously held the record with 11 receptions in a game.

Other Rockets making catches were senior Tyler Harper with six receptions for 78 yards, senior Brandon Jones with five catches for 35 yards and freshman Chayse McClure with four catches for 22 yards.

Defensively, the Rockets were led by Bussell with a total of eight tackles and one sack. Senior Jared Lake also had a big night on defense with a total of seven tackles and one sack.

Other Rockets picking up tackles and assists were Ansardi with seven, Adams with six, McClure and Jones with three each. Hughes, junior Kyle Denney and senior Koty Bengue were all credited with two tackles each and senior R.C. Kirby got one.

The Rockets will travel to London on Friday night to take on the South Laurel Cardinals. Kick-off is at 7:30 p.m.

Parkey said the Cardinals have improved from previous years under the leadership of their new head coach Matt Rymer.

"Rymer is their new coach and he is working hard to change the culture of the football program at South Laurel," Parkey said. "They run option and power plays well. Their defensive line is really good and will present our offensive line with their biggest challenge so far this season. We will have to win the battle in the trenches to come out with a win."

Senior quarterback Corey McPhetridge throws a pass to junior fullback Chance Ansardi during last Friday night's 48-19 loss to West Jessamine in the annual Jamboree Bowl. McPhtridge led the Rockets offense was 27 of 43 passing for 293 yards and one touchdown with one interception. Ansardi led the Rockets in rushing with 60 yards and one touchdown.

Senior defensive back John Hughes prepares to tackle a Colt receiver during last Friday night's loss to West Jessamine. Hughes had three tackles on defense and a record breaking night offensively as he tied the school record of most receptions in a game with 11 catches for 159 yards and one touchdown.

Senior Brandon Jones brings down a Colt running back during last Friday night's 49-19 loss to West Jessamine. Jones had three tackles on defense and five catches for 35 yards on offense.

Senior receiver Tyler Harper reaches out for a McPhetridge pass while battling with a West Jessamine defender. Harper had six receptions for 78 yards in the game.

Senior running back Jacob Bussell outran a host of West Jessamine defenders during last Friday night's 48-19 loss in the Jamboree Bowl. Bussell rushed for 9 yards with one touchdown and led the Rockets on defense with a total of eight tackles and one sack.

Archery hunting for deer begins Sept. 7th

Kentucky's 2013-14 deer season opens on Saturday, Sept. 7, the first day of the 136-day archery season. The season continues through Monday, Jan. 20, 2014.

For the past three seasons, record harvests have been posted for the month of September: 5,577 deer in 2012, 4,945 in 2011 and 4,407 in 2010.

"Even though weather conditions aren't always ideal in September, there are some advantages to early season hunting," said Tina Brunjes, deer program coordinator for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Most deer, even mature bucks, are still in their summer pattern when bow season opens. They are more visible during daylight hours than later in the season and their daily movements are more predictable. Deer frequent crop fields and weedy pastures in the late afternoons, especially when the rising moon is high in the sky at dusk. In September, these quarter moon periods fall on the 12th and 26th of the month.

The current statewide population estimate for Kentucky's deer herd is about 750,000, before fawning, with a stable to slightly decreasing trend. "Hunters who are monitoring trail cameras or spending time observing deer in the afternoons realize it has been a good year for deer reproduction and survival," said Brunjes. Heavy rains in the spring and early summer created lots of food and escape cover for deer.

The outlook for deer season is excellent, but ultimately the weather during modern gun season in November has the biggest impact on overall harvest.

Last season's deer harvest was the highest on record. Deer hunters reported taking 131,395 deer, a 9.8 percent increase from the 2011-2012 season. "A higher percentage of our hunters were successful," said Brunjes. "The record harvest was opportunity driven. They saw deer and they took them."

The 2012-13 harvest included 42 reported entries, 31 typical and 11 non-typical, into the Boone & Crockett Club record book. These record deer came from 35 of Kentucky's 120 counties.

Counties are assigned a zone status which affects season lengths and bag limits. Kentucky is divided into four deer management zones.

The management strategy for Zone 1 is herd reduction. For Zone 2 and 3 counties, herd maintenance is the goal. Increasing the herd is the aim for Zone 4 counties. This season there were no changes in the zone status for any of Kentucky's 120 counties.

Overall age structure of the harvest indicates that the majority of hunters are recognizing and passing up male fawns. Most antlered bucks taken in the 2012-2013 season were 2 1/2 years old or older. The female harvest was also primarily comprised of adults, rather than fawns or yearlings.

In the past decade, the Zone 1 counties in northern Kentucky have experienced the most herd growth. "Populations took off in the late 1990s and have remained high," said Brunjes.

Hunters who would like to donate venison should visit the Kentucky Hunters For the Hungry website at www.huntersforhungry.org for the list 57 processors who are accepting deer.

"This is our 13th season of providing nutritious venison to needy Kentucky families," said Ivan Schell, KHFH Executive Director. "The 70,000 pounds of venison processed annually provides about 500,000 meals."

KHFH pays for the processing and hunters who donate a deer receive a car sticker confirming their "doe-nation."

JV Rocket Rachael Davis sets up a hit for Sara Clark during Tuesday night's 2-1 loss to South Laurel.

Nicoline Joenborg goes for a spike during Tuesday night's 3-0 win against South Laurel.

Gabby Miller gets a hit during Tuesday night win against South Laurel. The Lady Rockets next game is Thursday night when they travel to Richmond to take on Madison Central. The match starts at 7:30 p.m.

Katie Adams gets a kill during the JV game against South Laurel Tuesday night. The JV's next game is Thursday night when they travel to Richmond to take on Madison Central. The match starts at 6 p.m.

Cade burdette is shown putting for birdie against Southwestern where he shot a 38. The Rockets have a shot to win their conference against Mercer County Monday night.

Carson Noble has been a huge part of the conference winning streak for the Rockets. Noble is pictured in the Rockets' match against Garrard County.

Hello people! My name is Sasha and I am a female Blue Heeler mix. I was picked up as a drop out and I am now searching for a new home. I am very easy going and friendly with everyone I meet and I would make a wonderful lifelong companion for any type of household. (kennel 16)

Hi everyone. My name is Sadie and I am a Walker Coonhound. I am very heavy with pups and I will be having them before long and I am really excited about that. One thing I'm not so excited about is that I don't have them a home to call there own. I have been trying to find a rescue organization that will take me and my soon to be family but I cant find one that has room for us. Maybe someone out there reading this will open their heart to my babies and I and give us a chance to show you how loving and grateful we can be. Contact the shelter @ 256-1833. (kennel 19)

FFA attends Kentucky Leadership Training

Submitted by:
Tiffany Bowman

On, July 1st, the Rockcastle County FFA Chapter officers and assistants traveled to Breckenridge County to the Kentucky Leadership Training Center. Every year, for one week of the summer, Ag. Teachers take many students to camp to teach them valuable skills, such as leadership, which they can carry home to the chapter for the year. This year, everyone had a blast, competing in athletics, making new friends, taking fun and helpful classes, and even competing in some competitions.

At the very beginning of the week, a camp counsel is chosen, and Kayla Reynolds was chosen as the Sentinel for the week. Not only that, but she was recognized as being an outstanding leader. Too, while at camp, Kayla Reynolds was chosen to be on the all-star basketball team, while Tiffany Bowman was chosen to be on the all-star volleyball team as well.

Eric Bullock competed in the camp quiz contest, where he placed second overall. Along with these achievements, Rockcastle

County was one of the chapters chosen to pre-side over a camp meeting one night, and they done an outstanding job. Congratulations to Kayla, Tiffany, Eric, and the rest of the chapter.

Kayla Reynolds was chosen as camp counsel sentinel.

Local horse trainer Gary Lane is shown training rider Jeannie Galyean Martz and her horse Lakota. Martz, from Michigan, brought the horse to Lane after she rescued it from an abusive home. Lane worked with Lakota to curb her emotional tendencies and said that the horse was one of the hardest he has trained.

that campers prefer, Hale said.

The master plan was funded by a grant from the Appalachia Regional Commission. Vitalize Mt. Vernon Manager, Lynn Tatum applied for the grant and the city was the fiscal agent. The city will review the suggestions and decide on the phases of work to be done and then apply for appropriate grant funding, Bryant said.

comments on the cooking and how beautiful Rockcastle County is,” Lane said of the tourists and riders he’s attracted. He also commends the county leaders for working to clean up the area.

“Brodhead, Livingston, and Mt. Vernon have accomplished huge strides in making the county more appealing to the eye for tourist to see and enjoy.” All in all, Lane sees nothing but positives for Rockcastle County.

Lane said his work is putting Rockcastle County not only on the Kentucky and U.S. maps, but the world-wide spectrum as well. Lane mentioned that last year, he had the opportunity to welcome Dr. Alex Virgolici from the Romania riding team to our county, as well as students from Germany, Canada, Netherlands, England, France and Israel. He’s also had the honor of working with specialists such as Dr. Marty Langhofer, the best equine dentist in the United States and Europe, from South Bend, Indiana.

Lane said his business has helped to benefit our county by welcoming “80 students this year who have rented motel rooms and enjoyed good home cooking at local restaurants.” He said his training business has attracted tourists and riders alike, drawing attention to Rockcastle from all people in walks of the world.

Adding to Lane’s great successes in the horse training industry, he has authored a book entitled, “Training the Gaited Horse: From the Trail to the Rail.” It is the best-selling gaited horse book in the U.S. and Europe, Lane said, with Israel and then Canada being his best-selling countries.

Lane said he is also quite proud of two new products, one being the Lady Light Saddle—a saddle specially designed to fit the body type of women—and the other, New Freedom Bits.

“I’m very proud of the new Freedom Bits and the Lady Light Saddle, Lane said. “Both patents are pending but the cool thing is they were invented here in Rockcastle County,”

It’s clear that Lane has had a passion for horses from an early age and has achieved success doing what he loves most, all the while helping Rockcastle County bring in a diversified group of people who can now experience all that we have to offer.

You can contact Gary Lane about training for your own horse via his website, www.windsweptstables.net and see more information about his products at www.nationalbridle.com.

bought a van to tour in. God provided for us and the rest is history. God is faithful.”

Howard said they came up with the band’s name “7eventh Time Down” from a popular verse of the Bible in 2 Kings Chapter 5.

“2 Kings Chapter 5 tells a story about the redemptive healing work of God when we submit to His will,” Howard said. “In verse 14 the Bible says that on Naaman’s seventh time down he came up clean, so we came up with the name 7eventh Time Down.”

After creating the band, Howard said all four of them were originally focused on what God wanted them to do as His servants. However, he said they all soon became focused on only getting a record deal and that they almost disbanded as a result.

“At some point after our founding everything became about getting a record deal and that is when we almost quit,” Howard said. “We all sat down together and decided that if we were going to do this that it was going to be for God’s glory and not ours. It wasn’t until then that the record deals and tours started to happen.”

The band released their first album “Alive in You” in 2011. The album included hit singles “Alive in You,” “What About Tonight” and “Jesus Machine.” During the tour for their first album, 7eventh Time Down toured with the Newsboys, King and Country, KJ-52, Manifest, Fireflight, Stellar Kart and many other notable Christian music artists.

7eventh Time Down kicked off their new album “Just Say Jesus” tour on August 3rd at the Belfry KJ Pneumafest in Belfry, Kentucky and the tour will end on November 3rd at the Star 883 event in South Bend, Indiana.

During their 22 concert tour dates, the band will play alongside other popular Christian music artists including Matthew West, Switchfoot, Third Day, Abandon, Ryan Stevenson, Sanctus Real, KJ-52, Disciple, Toby Mac and Jeremy Camp.

Howard said that touring and spending time on the road causes a lot of different emotions for all of them. But at the end of the day, he said the sacrifices they make are worth it to them.

“It is often exciting but stressful and depressing at the same time as we all miss our family and friends back home,” Howard said. “Life on the road has all kinds of different emotions. Sometimes we drive 15 hours to play for 15 minutes in hopes that someone will accept Jesus Christ as their Lord and Savior. This is what it is all about for us and it’s the core reason why we do what we do.”

Pine Hill Baptist Church had their “It’s All About Jesus” float in the Livingston Homecoming parade last Saturday. Homecoming organizers have already projected this year’s parade and festivities to be the largest ever in the annual event’s 29 year history.

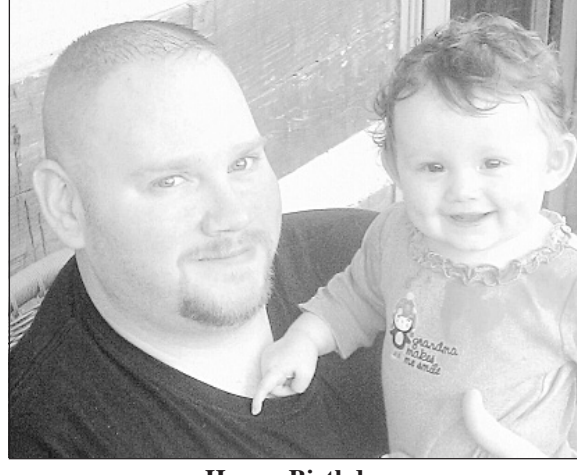

Three people were injured and one person had to be extricated by Mt. Vernon Fire and Rescue after a two car collision last Saturday morning on Hwy 25 near the 59 exit in Mt. Vernon. Authorities say Lorene Ponder, 78, of Mt. Vernon was exiting off southbound I-75 and attempting to turn south onto Hwy 25 when she pulled out into the path of Dustin Cromer, 21, of Mt. Vernon who was traveling north on Hwy 25. Ponder’s female juvenile passenger and Cromer were transported by ambulance to Rockcastle Regional Hospital where they were treated and later released. Ponder was flown to the UK Medical Center where she is currently being treated for serious injuries.

In other business, Hopkins told the board that the chance for a $350,000 grant for the proposed Rockcastle County Food Hub looks good. The grant would be from the Kentucky Department of Agriculture and will be awarded through Growing Warriors and ASPI. The executive director also told the board that she was presently working to find a site suitable for a distribution center in the county which, if built here, would bring an additional 40 new jobs to the county.

Hopkins also reported that a decision would be made shortly by Anchor Packaging on which facility to install a new multi-million dollar piece of machinery they have purchased. Hopkins said she “thinks it is coming here,” which would help to boost employment numbers at the company. She said that Anchor has recently assured her that “everything was fine.”

we fixed the main tent and sound system,” Medley said. “We were ready to rock and roll after we beat the pins back down on the tent and blew the sound systems out. Then a lot of people came back, once they saw the tent was fixed and the music started back up again.”

Despite the storm, Medley went on to say that homecoming organizers have already projected this year’s homecoming to be one of the largest ever in its 29 year history.

“We had over 300 people come to see the famous Moron Brothers Saturday night and all the other events had a lot of people at them as well even though there was bad weather at times,” Medley said. “Everyone seemed to be having a great time at the events and having a great time reminiscing with each other. That’s what the homecoming is all about.”

Yards to Paradise

By Max Phelps
Consider a Pond
in Your Yard

Over time fashions come and go. In the world of pond ownership, the invention of biofalls units and the no-fuss skimmer was a game changer. This allowed ponds to come into vogue. Lovely, natural looking, water gardens have added a whole new landscape dimension to more than a few yards. Ponding has become a relaxing lifestyle.

Studies have shown a correlation between soothing sounds of water and more peaceful and civilized behavior among people. Better health from a relaxing environment would be one good reason to consider a pond at your place.

There is beauty in a quality water feature. People travel great distances to visit famous waterfalls around the nation and the world. It is possible to have this beautiful environment, on a smaller scale perhaps, in your home landscape.

Value is added to a property beyond the cost of the installation with a pristine appearing, well designed and properly functioning pond, stream or waterfall.

A small rubber lined 500 gallon pond of recirculating water, an energy efficient pump, a couple waterfalls and a short stream to tie them together and give birds a shallow bathing area, plus some attractive plants and a few fish is all the average pond owner wants. Pondless, that is you have a waterfall and a stream but no pond to care for, is a popular option with busy folk who have no desire for fish.

You may know someone with a green, ugly, mosquito and muck infested little spot in the yard they refer to as their pond. Unfortunately, even current editions of books and magazines on display at "big box" stores and garden centers still enthusiastically show the novice how to build one of these "lovely" ponds!

The technological breakthrough of the mechanical skimmer and the biological filter/waterfall box along with mass marketing made ponds a hot landscape item several years ago, even folks who had never considered a pond before became pond owners. (Caveat: some of the old ways may actually work with bog filtration, so success is not just about fancy gadgets or equipment; rather, success is about creating an ecosystem that pretty much takes care of itself...like in nature.)

Even with a good design, some creativity and the best of pond equipment, a lot of new ponds fail either from the moment they are turned on or fail over time. This is a shame, and is not a fate one has to be resolved to.

My thinking and advice goes like this—you don't get a mechanic or a lawn mowing guy to build an addition onto your home, instead you seek out an experienced builder with a great reputation—similarly, be wise and find a pondbuilder with lots of happy customers to create the pond of your dreams.

A poorly designed, leaky pond will be an expense for a future homeowner to tear out. But a pretty, properly working and easy-to-care-for pond will be a major asset and a joy to own for a long time.

If you're still with me on this paragraph, then indeed you have considered the topic of a pond. In closing, I want to mention that ponds are a wildlife habitat. They bring back some of what the builder dozed away to clear a spot to build. And that birdbath won't have to be filled up every day or two anymore, as birds will prefer the flowing water in your stream for their bathing from now on. - 0 -
