Thinking About Cleaning Your Carpet! Some things to think about...
 What is the best way to clean my carpet, should I use the old technology of steam cleaning or the new technology of dry foam?
 Test results from Consumer Report, 2008.
Option 1: Steam Cleaning-How does it work?
 A. Steam Cleaners saturate your carpet and floor pad with hot (150° degree) soapy water containing lye and beach to help dissolve stains.
 B. After your carpet reaches its maximum saturation point the solution is then extracted by means of a commercial shop vacuum.
 The results: Removes less than 20% of the soil from the carpet driving the remainder down deeper into the carpet fibers. The lye/bleach solution used by steam cleaners to dissolve stains fades carpet colors. Drying time is 1 to 5 days depending on the carpet texture. As a result of the water saturation, carpet fibers harden and the floor pad remains damp, which promotes bacteria growth and mildewing, causing carpet threads to rot, shorting the life of your carpet. Carpet manufactures recommend that you do not steam clean carpets.
Option 2: Dry Foam-How does it work?
 C. Carpet fibers are agitated with carpet combs to separate the fibers loosening dirt particles, which are then dry cleaned with an industrial strength vacuum.
 D. The carpet is then shampooed with horse hair brushes using Dry-Foam lather, a solution that contains six different cleaners and fabric softener, color brightener, deodorizer, disinfectant, crystalline agent, scotch guard, & degreaser. Does not contain lye or bleach.
 E. Carpet fibers are then groomed to fluff up worn walk areas to give a uniform look to the carpet.
 The results: Removes over 90% of carpet soil. Rejuvenates and brightens colors and patterns of carpets. Drying times is less than 2 hours. Floor pads remain dry-Fabric Softener makes carpets soft again-Promoting the life of the carpet.
 Carpet manufacturers recommend Dry Foam to clean Carpets.

To the Voters of the 5th District:

After much prayer and consultation with the Lord, I have decided not to seek re-election as your Magistrate for the 2014 election year.

There comes a point in any occupation where it is time to walk away and I feel my time has come. I will proudly serve out the remainder of my term and I will assist the person fortunate enough to be elected as your next magistrate.

I want to thank each of you that has supported and helped me within the Fifth District and throughout our county.

It's been an honor to serve as your magistrate, I appreciate the opportunity.

Respectfully,

Ralph E. Allen

KU and LG&E offer rebates for appliances

Shoppers who are KU and LG&E residential customers get additional savings during holiday retail sales if purchasing ENERGY STAR certified major appliances.

Kentucky Utilities Company and Louisville Gas and Electric Company offer home energy rebates ranging from $50 to $300 to help residential customers offset the purchasing costs of certain ENERGY STAR certified refrigerators, clothes washers, dishwashers, freezers and heat pump water heaters.

“This program has been extremely popular with our customers,” said Natasha Collins, director of Media Relations for KU and LG&E. “Whether you purchase a qualifying ENERGY STAR appliance now during the holidays or later in the year, our rebates can help offset the purchasing cost.”

How to Apply

1. Purchase a qualifying ENERGY STAR refrigerator, clothes washer, freezer, dishwasher or heat pump water heater.
2. Start your application online at the KU and LG&E website or by calling 1-800-356-5467.
3. Receive a copy of your application by mail for your signature.
4. Sign and return your completed application and proof of purchase using the complimentary business reply envelope.
5. Receive a rebate check within six to eight weeks.

To learn more and check out the program's eligibility guidelines before making an appliance purchase, visit the KU and LG&E Home Energy Rebates Program.

Mount Vernon, Kentucky 40456 - (606) 256-2244    Volume 127 • Number 51    .50 per copy    Thursday, December 5, 2013

Santa Claus (Shawn Pollock) and Mrs. Claus (Helen Polluck) made an appearance last Saturday during the annual Christmas parade in Livingston. After the parade, Santa and Mrs. Claus met with children at the Livingston Fire Department where they gave them their Christmas wish lists. A large crowd also came to the Christmas Tree Lighting at Memorial Park. The City of Mt. Vernon will hold their annual Christmas Tree Lighting ceremony this Friday at 6 p.m. and the parade is Saturday at 2 p.m. with line-up beginning at 1 p.m. at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School. The City of Brodhead's Christmas parade is this Saturday at 6 p.m. with line-up starting at 5:30 p.m. at Brodhead Elementary School. See more photos from Livingston Christmas Parade in our Christmas issue, December 19th.

Local organization spreads joy with Christmas story and gifts

By: Doug Ponder
A local organization is showing their holiday spirit by reading the Christmas story at community events and giving Christmas gifts to children in the county.

Members of the Rockcastle Association of Kentucky Baptists Community Mission Team read the Christmas Story of the birth of Jesus Christ to children during the Livingston

Christmas festivities last weekend. After reading the Christmas story, community mission team members gave shoeboxes to the children that included toys, school supplies, hygiene items and various other gifts.

The shoebox gifts were a part of Samaritan's Purse's Operation Christmas Child which is a program that has been providing shoebox gifts to needy children in the world since 1990.

Allen will not seek re-election

Incumbent 5th District Ralph Allen has announced that he will not seek re-election for a fourth term.

Allen, a resident of Burr, told the Signal Monday that, "Since my district was extended, I don't feel I have the time to adequately represent all my new constituents. I appreciate having had the opportunity to serve the people of the 5th District and will assist whoever is elected to fill the position."

Allen won re-election in 2010 over challengers Michael McGuire and Tommy Miller. McGuire has already filed as a candidate for the seat in next year's election.

Mission Team Leader Katheryn Pope said she came up with the idea to participate in Operation Christmas Child in the winter of 2011 while she was talking with a Mt. Vernon business owner.

"Two years ago I was talking to Mary Mathis and we were discussing Samaritan's Purse and their Operation Christmas Child program," Pope said. "We both said that we should do something like that here in our county. I had already felt the prodding in my heart to start one so a bunch of us got together and decided to do it."

Pope said Mathis made the first monetary donation to their "Love in a Box" program and in the following weeks they received several more donations.

"After getting all the donations from people, churches and organizations across the country, we went shopping and filled over 300 shoeboxes for children during the 2011 Christmas season," Pope said. "The program has continued to grow since then. Love in a Box is a reflection of the perfect gift of love which is Jesus Christ and that is why we always present the Christmas story of Christ's birth to the children before we give away the shoe boxes."

Craig resigns RCIDA seat; SourceHOV needs more workers

At Monday's regular meeting of the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority, the resignation of member Gatliff Craig was tendered.

Mr. Craig, who is battling some health issues, noted in his letter of resignation to County Judge/Executive Buzz Carloftis and Robert Lawson, chairman of the board, "I have served nearly 28 years and have enjoyed our association and the accomplishments that we have realized. Thank you for leading and helping us to reach out and bring to reality those things that for so long seemed impossible."

Board member Corey Craig noted that Mr. Craig had spent his life trying to "give back" and to "improve the community, not only locally but regionally."

Executive Director Holly Hopkins told the board that SourceHOV needed at least an additional 250 employees to bring them to the 480 needed to fulfill their contract with the Veterans Administration. Hopkins said present employees have been working overtime for "months on end." The jobs pay from $12.50 to $14.50 per hour and, if interested, you must apply online at www.sourcehov.net.

Hopkins also told the board that the state had disallowed all but $65,000 of the reimbursement submitted for the DOT grant for Industrial Park South. Hopkins said they allowed the excavation of dirt purchased from the White House Clinic site to dress the roadway. An extension of the remaining approximately $140,000 has been applied for, Hopkins said.

Plans for The Food Hub in Brodhead are progressing, the executive director reported, with the opening date still scheduled for the Spring of 2014.

Hopkins also reported that construction of the White House Clinic is on schedule but a firm opening date has not been set.

The board also discussed the planned sign for the original Rockcastle County Industrial Park. Hopkins said that estimates and designs had been obtained but that bids would have to be let for construction of the sign since the cost will exceed $20,000.

More Christmas festivities planned for this weekend

Mt. Vernon, Brodhead and the Quail community have big plans to celebrate the holiday season this weekend with Christmas parades, tree lightings and Christmas meals.

In Mt. Vernon: The annual tree lighting ceremony in Triangle Park is this Friday at 6 p.m. The ceremony is sponsored by the Mt. Vernon Kiwanis Club. There will also be free coffee and hot chocolate at the event.

Due to expected inclement weather, the city changed the parade from Friday night to this Saturday at 2 p.m. with line-up starting at 1 p.m. at the Mt. Vernon Elementary School. This year's parade theme is "Winter Wonderland" and awards will be presented to the first, second and third place floats.

Following the parade, children will be able to visit Santa Claus at the former Tea Cup Café on Main Street.

In Brodhead: The Brodhead Volunteer Fire Department will be having their annual Christmas breakfast from 7 to 10 a.m. at the BVFD firehouse. The cost is $7 a plate and includes country ham, sausage or bacon, eggs, biscuits and gravy, fried potatoes, fried apples and a drink.

The "Dreams of Christmas" themed parade is this Saturday at 6 p.m. with line-up starting at 5:30 p.m. at the Brodhead El-

Suits filed over 2011 delinquent taxes

34 suits were filed last week in Rockcastle District Court, seeking to collect past due 2011 property taxes.

The suits were filed by County Attorney Billy Reynolds on behalf of the state finance and administration cabinet.

The number of suits filed is less than half of the 72 suits that were filed in 2011 to collect the 2010 delinquent property taxes. The tax bills are what remains of the 2011 bills that were due beginning November 1, 2012. Many unpaid tax bills were purchased by companies who can collect them, after adding on costly fees and interest, under a law enacted several years ago by the state legislature.

The total amount of taxes due in the suits is $4,752.665 and the bills range from $26.61 to $532.41.

According to the county attorney's office, the procedure now is that property owners will have 20 days to file an answer (refuting the claim of taxes due). If an answer is not filed, then a default judgement will be sought and suit could be filed in circuit court, asking that the property be sold to satisfy the lien.

Several suits have been filed in circuit court, by the companies who purchased unpaid tax bills over the years, to sell the properties, on which taxes have not been paid, at a Commissioner's Sale.

by: perlina m. anderkin

After months of anticipation, Celia James Carney finally arrived at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, November 27th. She managed to wend her way right between mine and Jamie's birthdays but to hit Allison's husband, Daniel's brother's birthday.

She was 7 lbs., 19 inches long and lost down to 6 lbs. 6 ozs. before making the turnaround. Of course, she's beautiful (I think she looks just like me, jk Allison).

I spent a couple of days with Allison and Daniel to try and help out but began feeling bad so decided to go home because there was no reason to make them take care of me and a new baby.

During that time, I was reminded of how much havoc a helpless 7 lb. baby can wreak. Between the bouncy, pack and play, a portable crib and the other items that seem essential these days for a newborn, it was mine boggling. Not to mention, two adults trying to function while resembling zombies. Her first night and day at home were trying for everyone but she has adapted and on the sleep and eat schedule. Of course, the eating comes every two hours right now so Mom and Dad are still a little zombie-like. Allison is already dreading having to leave her to return to teaching in mid-February but the grandmas are going to fill in a few days a week so she'll be in good hands.

The main thing is she's here and everyone's alright and Allison and Daniel really appreciate the many well wishes they have received.

The honeymoon will last for a few years and, then, reality will set in with the teenage years.

Actually, I have good memories of my children's teen years. My mother never tolerated a sullen child and neither did I. Of course, there were incidents of rebellion, many of which I was unaware. At family gatherings, my children have been known to say, "did I ever tell you about..." that's when I immediately stop them and say, "I didn't know about it then and I don't want to know about it now." I usually go on to tell them that, as a teenager, I didn't do things that I didn't want mom and dad to know about and just assumed my children's philosophy would be the same. Obviously I gave them too much credit at times.

My mother was the strict disciplinarian but it was my dad that I was more concerned with. He very rarely took me to task but if I got the slightest indication that I had disappointed him, the feelings of guilt overwhelmed me.

The same thing happened in my family. Jim was more laid back and you notice that Allison chose to name her daughter after her dad. Of course, her two choices with me are Perlina and Jane so who can blame her.

Now, if we can just, somehow, keep this country from falling apart maybe Celia and others of her generation will have the chance to grow and prosper in a free society. Their chances are actually looking dimmer every day.

ROCKCASTLE MEMORIES

BY DAVID J. GRIFFIN

Remembering John F. Kennedy

This past weekend proved to be more difficult to go through than I would have ever expected. Reviewing so much of the raw footage of the assassination, in conjunction with listening to the reflections of those whom he touched and inspired, was both physically and emotionally draining. I have no doubt that many others experienced the same thing. It was all just a little too close to home for those of us who lived through those calamitous days.

On November 22, 1963, I had just finished a college chemistry class and was returning to my dorm when the radio in my '63 Chevy announced, "Moments ago, shots rang out from the Texas School Book Depository in Dallas hitting President John F. Kennedy and Texas Governor John Connally as they rode in a motorcade at Dealey Plaza." That was all that was known at the time; no additional information was forthcoming. From the tone of the unknown broadcaster, it was obvious that this could be a newscast of monumental proportions. My heart began to race, and my palms were sweating. Immediately, I headed to my dorm room and turned on the radio to WHAS in Louisville.

Just moments later, several guys came into my room to listen to the radio that was playing. They were sitting on the beds and lying on the floor. The room became deathly silent as we listened for any additional facts about the attempted assassination. The silence itself seemed alarming — boys' dorms were never quiet.

Because of the historical importance of the news from Dallas, I decided to record the broadcast on my Webcor reel-to-reel recorder. Within a few minutes, the reporter stated, "An announcement was made a few moments ago from Parkland Memorial Hospital — President Kennedy has died from gunshot wounds." Our worst fears had been realized.

For the next four hours, I taped the events and the commentary coming from my radio about the killing of our President. I was only 19 years old. Fifty years later, I still have that tape of the AM broadcast.

Even though I did not usually go home often, that particular Friday evening I longed to be with my family, so I headed to Mt. Vernon to spend the weekend there. As I pulled into the driveway at my grandparents' home, my mother (Bee) met me at the door, "David Joe, have you heard the news?" I have no idea why, but I put my arms around my mother, and we simply held each other for a few minutes. I said, "I just had to come home." She replied, "I am so glad you did."

For the next three days, we (Bee, my grandparents, and I) sat in the living room, watching the historical television broadcast on our small black and white TV. Like many families at that time, we were truly glued to the television for the entire weekend.

At first, it seemed like everything was getting worse — like our world had gone half mad. We witnessed the live murder of Oswald and the arrest of his killer, Jack Ruby. I was glad to be at home with my family.

Of course, each of us continued to fight back tears as we watched the somber proceedings following the assassination, his lying in state and then the funeral march and the service. Somehow it felt like time had suddenly stood still. I suppose it was the fact that everyone was just in shock.

During the course of the weekend, many memories of President Kennedy were telecast on the news. I remember that his inaugural address was re-played, and I listened intently to his words of encouragement and inspiration. One passage remained in my youthful memory.

"Let the word go forth from this time and place, to friend and foe alike, that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans — born in this century, tempered by war, disciplined by a hard and bitter peace, proud of our ancient heritage — and unwilling to witness or permit the slow undoing of those human rights to which this Nation has always been committed, and to which we are committed today at home and around the world.

At that time in my life, I was unaware that Kennedy was the youngest President to be elected (age 46) and Dwight D. Eisenhower had been the eldest President to hold the office. Yes, Kennedy was ushering in a new generation of Americans; I could relate to him and to his ideals because I was a part of that generation. Politics finally included me!

When Kennedy was assassinated, he carried in his pocket the speech that he intended to deliver at the Trade Mart in Dallas. When I became aware of the last paragraph of that undelivered speech, I was touched beyond belief. See if you agree.

"We in this country, in this generation, are — by destiny rather than choice — the watchmen on the walls of world freedom. We ask, therefore, that we may be worthy of our power and responsibility, that we may exercise our strength with wisdom and restraint, and that we may achieve in our time and for all time the ancient vision of 'peace on earth, good will toward men.' That must always be our goal, and the righteousness of our cause must underlie our strength.

For as it was written long ago: Except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain."

The President's funeral was held on Monday, November 25, and Jacqueline Kennedy requested an eternal flame for her husband's grave. Almost everything was closed for the national event, including college classes, so I remained in Mt. Vernon to witness the historic memorial service with my family.

I will never forget

Points East

By Ike Adams

When I was growing up there in the head of Blair Branch, what little Christmas shopping to be done in our family had already been completed in mid November courtesy of the Spiegel's mail order catalog. In fact, said catalog, had already served its end utility in our outhouse by this time of year. If you hadn't mailed your order to Chicago before Thanksgiving, chances were good that, the package contents would be used for birthday presents in the coming year.

In other words, by the first of December it was way too late to be aggravating Mom about what you wanted Santa Claus to bring. Which meant it was high time to start pestering my Uncles, Willie Adams and Stevie Craft about what they ought to be making me for Christmas. Uncle Stevie could whittle all manner of stick figurines, toy guns and knives, as well as make water pistols and pop-guns out of sections of elderberry bushes that he hollowed out and fitted with pieces of harder wood. He also made whistles from sections of paw-paw limbs and once made me a paw-paw "Indian flute".

Somehow or other he would manage to get the bark to loosen on a foot long section of paw-paw that was about an inch in diameter so that he could slip the solid wood core out. He whittled one side somewhat flat and tapered the wood in such a precise way that he could slip it back into the hollow bark, lay it on the mantel and let it dry for several days until it hardened and the bark re-adhered. Then, using his pocket knife, he cut little note holes in the bark that covered the section he had whittled on. When you blew through the tapered end you could make musical notes by covering the appropriate holes with your fingers.

I never did learn to play a tune on it, but Uncle Stevie could play "Old Sally Goodin", "Billy in the Low Ground" "Camptown Races" "Ole Dan Tucker" and several dozen other traditional fiddle tunes. He was also a master fiddler, an instrument that baffles me to this day, but I loved to hear him play the homemade flutes as well.

Uncle Willie's specialty was sling shots. If he was in the woods and happened upon a forked Y-shaped dogwood, sourwood, or ironwood limb of a certain size he would "harvest" it for use as a sling-shot prong. Any time a vehicle had a tire blow out, we would procure the inner tube so that it could be cut in strips to make slingshot rubbers. Not just any old inner tube would work. Tubes that were made before WWII worked best because they were made from real rubber of which there was a vast shortage during the war.

Inner tubes made after the war contained so much synthetic material that they wouldn't stretch like the real McCoy. Suffice to say that the older the better when it came to using inner tubes to make slingshot rubbers. I'm

by: Tonya J. Cook

The Mystery of the Crystal Skulls

According to legend, mostly held by the Native Americans, there exists thirteen lifese crystal skulls that hold tremendous power and knowledge. The legend goes on further to say that one day, in a time of great need, a humanitarian crisis, these skulls will come together to bring information vital for the survival of mankind.

Some of these ancient skulls have been found from all over the world. How did they get to the various worldwide locations? How did the ancients have the ability to create such accurate, flawless designs in crystal? Some believe they are only a hoax. What can we believe?

The skulls are also known as the “Skulls of Doom”. In 1924, Anna Le Guillion Mitchell-Hedges, adopted daughter of F. A. Mitchell-Hedges, discovered a crystal skull buried under a collapsed altar of a temple in Lubaantren, Belize, as a child.

Anna Mitchell-Hedges claimed the skull could cause visions and cure cancer. She once used its power to kill a man as the priest in Belize had done. Thus, the name, the “Skull of Doom”. She also said that she saw a vision of the death of John F. Kennedy.

There are very few legends that cross over cultures and time the way the crystal skulls do. They are shared by the Mayans, Aztecs, Native Americans, and others around the world.

Harley Swift-Deer Reagan, a Cherokee medicine man said, “The skulls were kept inside a pyramid in a formation of tremendous power known as the Ark. The Ark was comprised of the twelve skulls from each of the sacred planets, kept in a circle with the thirteenth skull in the center of the formation. The thirteen skulls represent the collective consciousness of all the planets. It connects up to the knowledge of all the sacred planets.”

Patricio Dominguez, a Pueblo spiritual advisor said, “The crystal skulls are complete depositories of knowledge and each skull contains a particular specialist area of information-like a living library...the people will be able to extract all of the knowledge from the skulls once they are all assembled together. It has been prophesied.”

Some of the documentaries that I've seen say that the skulls were created by ancient aliens, and brought to the Earth many hundreds or even thousands of years ago. They had the technology to produce such an item and place within it, as in a “computer chip”, vast amounts of knowledge. When all of the skulls are found, the end of this age will close very soon.

The thirteenth skull was recently found in Germany on March 9, 2011. It had been hidden by Otto Rahn, a Nazi. Is the last skull authentic? Will the secrets of the skulls ever be “read”? Is the end of the age near? Only time, and perhaps the skulls, can tell.

Memories”

“Black Jack,” the rider-less horse that pranced in the funeral procession for President Kennedy. At times, he was almost uncontrollable. Even he seemed upset with the morbid ceremony.

According to published accounts, Mrs. Kennedy drew inspiration for the flame from the eternal blaze at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Paris, which she and President Kennedy had visited during a trip to France in 1961.

The grave in Arlington National Cemetery was situated so that it had a view of the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Monument – and was aligned with them. Jacqueline Kennedy lit a taper from a candle held by a nearby soldier, and then brought the eternal flame to life at the end of the burial service.

I will never forget the first time I actually saw that eternal flame in person. Standing in Arlington National Cemetery, tears flowed down my cheeks and I wept openly.

It was shortly after her husband's death that Jacqueline Kennedy first attributed the word “Camelot” – that imaginative and sentimental nickname often characterizing the hope of the early ‘60s – to President John F. Kennedy's brief term in office. She was obsessed over her husband's legacy and with the desire that he be heroically enshrined in the public's memory. She explained, “There will be great presidents again, but there will never be another Camelot.”

She was right. I will never forget the events of November 22, 1963, and the days that followed. They are permanently etched in my mind. Nothing had ever affected me in that same way before, and few national events have touched me the same since. I, like many others, often wonder how the history of the United States would have changed if President Kennedy had lived to serve another term in office.

We still miss him. I suppose that we never knew just how much until this 50th anniversary. Seeing him again and listening to the exhortations that he made to his fellow Americans was both heartening and heart wrenching. In spite of how difficult it was at times, it gives me renewed hope for our country and for the generations to come. It is my hope that he will always be celebrated as one of the greatest Americans. As the song says: “Don't let it be forgot that once there was a spot for one brief shining moment that was known as Camelot.”

“Points East”

not sure which company made them but the best ones were red and very hard to find.

Any time a pair of leather shoes wore out, meaning after they had been re-heeled and half-soled half a dozen times, and the uppers had pretty much rotted, we cut the tongues out to use for slingshot pouches.

The ends of the Strips of good rubber were attached to each end of the shoe tongue and the other ends were attached to the tips of the Y shaped prong. The bottom of the Y was the slingshot handle.

You grasped the handle with one hand, placed a pebble in the pouch with the other, pulled it back as far as you could reach or as far as the rubbers would stretch and let it fly. When Uncle Willie made a slingshot it was both a lethal weapon and a work of art. You could take one glance at a slingshot and tell if Uncle Willie had made it. His oldest son, my cousin the late Arlie Adams also made extraordinary fine sling shots.

No blackbird, house sparrow, crow, ground squirrel, barn rat or mouse was safe if Uncle Willie had a slingshot in his back pocket. But Mom always told me that if she ever caught me shooting at a bird, my slingshot would make fine kindling after she gave me a switching. The only exception was crows and starlings and only if they were in the act of pulling up sweet corn planted and sprouting in the garden.

Renfro Valley Entertainment wins Traverse Awards

The Renfro Valley Entertainment Center has received four awards in the 2013 Kentucky Travel Industry Association's (KTIA) Traverse Awards for Excellence in Tourism Marketing competition.

The Renfro Valley Entertainment Center received its awards Thursday, November 7 during the Traverse Gala held at the Seelbach Hilton Louisville as part of the 2013 Kentucky Travel Industry Annual Conference.

Kentucky travel and tourism businesses and marketing organizations vie for awards in 21 separate categories during the annual competition produced by the Kentucky Travel Industry Association. A panel of out-of-state experts judged entries from across the state for this year's presentation of awards.

Traverse Awards for Excellence in Tourism Marketing are open to Kentucky Travel Industry Association members marketing a tourism product or service in Kentucky. All entries must have been published or distributed within the past year. Each entry is judged for concept, creativity, design and how well it relates to its audience.

According to KTIA President/CEO Laura Cole, “This year we had almost 300 entries for the Traverse awards. Our professional judges were amazed by the quality work they saw and had an extremely hard time choosing the winners. Each winner was deserving of the award they received for their hard work and dedication to the tourism industry.”

The Kentucky Travel Industry Association is a Frankfort-based state association that represents every segment of Kentucky's tourism industry. The 950-member Association offers continuing education programs, works in the area of governmental relations, produces four statewide travel conferences each year and provides legislative advocacy for Kentucky's travel industry.

Renfro Valley won 1st place for Rack Brochure, 1st place for Renfro Valley 50's Show flyer 1st place for Show Program and 1st place for best poster design. All entries were created and designed by Renfro Valley's Marketing and Technical staff Ashley Enneking Rouse and Travis Gay.

Accepting the award on behalf of Renfro Valley was Entertainment Director Mark Laws.

Participating in the Raider Rally in the Valley competition were: Holden Abrams, Addison Atkin, Victoria Barron, Megan Boggs, Jeremiah Caudill, Ame Chiantaretto, Dillion Doan, Wade Garrett, Tiffany Horn, John Robinson, Derick Yates.

JROTC competes in Raider Rally

On November 23rd Rockcastle County JROTC's Raider team competed in the annual Raider Rally in the Valley at Campbell County High School JROTC Department. Cadets competed in the following events: The One Rope Bridge, Cross Country Rescue Run, Knot tying, First Aid, Map Reading, and Strength Test.

The One Rope Bridge consisted of an 8 person team that erected a rope bridge. Teams had a set time to tie there harnesses (Swiss seats) before the timer was started and the rope bridge construction began.

The Cross Country Rescue Run was an event in which teams carried a weighted stretcher with four people, ammo cans full of rocks, and 2-4 full water cans over a 1.0+ mile paved path, with obstacles along the route.

Cadets were competing against 17 teams ranging from Kentucky to Tennessee. Each cadet pushed themselves to their limit throughout every event presented to them. Each event challenged the cadets mentally and physically.

At the end of the day the team pushed hard and came out strong.

The leaves are all gone; it is smallmouth bass time

Winds blowing straight from Santa Claus' abode at the North Pole rocketed across Kentucky this past week, bringing with them the start of reservoir smallmouth bass fishing season. "From now into late winter, if you can stand it, is the best time of year to catch trophy smallmouth bass," said John Williams, southeastern fisheries district biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "The whole cold water period of the year is the most productive time for large smallmouths."

Water temperatures at Lake Cumberland, Dale Hollow Lake and Laurel River Lake are getting perfect for bringing smallmouth into the range of angler's lures.

"When the water temperatures drop to 60 degrees, the baitfish start moving into the creeks," said Scot Ortwein, an avid smallmouth angler from Park Hills who fishes Laurel River Lake as often as possible. "The deeper the creek is; the better the fishing."

Smallmouth bass follow the baitfish into the major creek arms on these lakes. The point where the creek arm meets the main lake is a good place to start looking for the smallmouths at this time of year. The secondary points leading up into the creek should be next on the list.

Ortwein, the co-owner of a company that manufactures lights for night fishing from boats, likes smaller grubs and swimbaits for late fall and winter smallmouth bass. Ortwein searches for balls of baitfish such as alewives or shad on his electronic sonar unit before he fishes an area.

"The 3-inch pearl Slider grub is the best smallmouth bass bait there is," he said. "I rig them hook exposed on a 1/4-ounce ball head. I rarely divert from a 1/4-ounce head in fall."

This combination works extremely well on Laurel River Lake, a notoriously tough lake to fish. "Laurel has a tremendous population of trophy smallmouth bass," said Williams, who oversees the fisheries management at Laurel River, Cumberland and Dale Hollow lakes. "They can be hit or miss on Laurel. The smallmouth bass are there, even if you don't catch them."

Ortwein caught six smallmouth bass yesterday on Laurel River Lake, the days after the nastiest cold front since last winter hit Kentucky. The air temperature was 18 degrees at daybreak. The fishing line froze in his rod guides. Frost flew from his reel like snow.

Yet, he used a 3-inch pearl swimbait rigged hook exposed on 6-pound test fluorocarbon line to boat two smallmouth bass longer than 20-inches on a raw, tough day by counting his lure down to the fish.

Charlie Brewer, the originator of Slider fishing, believed in probing the water column by simply counting down to find the active fish zone. After casting your lure off a point in a deep smallmouth reservoir like Laurel or Cumberland, slowly count as the offering sinks.

Reel in the Slider grub or swimbait in a straight line after counting down to 12, for example. Count down deeper on successive casts until you feel pecks or nips on your lure from small bass or baitfish during the retrieve. Probe a little deeper on the next cast and find the smallmouths lurking under the baitfish.

This method works just as well for someone who doesn't own a boat. If you can walk to a point that slopes into deep water on these lakes, you can catch trophy smallmouths by counting down your 3-inch pearl swimbait or black 3-inch grub to find the activity zone and the smallmouth bass.

For those who just want to catch fish, pitching large crappie minnows or medium-sized shiners into main lake pockets on Lake Cumberland, Dale Hollow or Laurel River lakes is incredible fun. Using medium or medium-light spinning gear, tie on a size 1/0 Octopus style hook to 6- or 8-pound fluorocarbon line. Pinch on one or two BB-sized split shot sinkers (the non-removable kind work best) 18- to 24-inches above the hook.

Hook the shiner through both lips starting from the bottom one. Rig a large crappie minnow through the tail. Gently cast this presentation to the main lake pocket or point and let it slowly sink toward bottom. Rhythmically retrieve the offering once it touches down until the line jumps, goes slack or moves off to one side. Take a few deep breaths, reel in the slack line and set the hook. Live bait produces more trophy smallmouth bass than anything else in fall and winter.

Kentuckians are lucky. Our state is the home of the all-tackle, world record smallmouth bass, an 11-pound, 15-ounce beast caught from the Kentucky portion of Dale Hollow Lake in the summer of 1955. Dale Hollow, Cumberland and Laurel River lakes hold some of the biggest specimens of smallmouth bass on Earth.

Now is the time to hit these waters and catch some of the world's best.

Author Lee McClellan is an award-winning associate editor for Kentucky Afield magazine, the official publication of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. He is a lifelong hunter and angler, with a passion for smallmouth bass fishing.

Financial Aid Tip of the Month

Students pay attention to deadlines for financial aid

High school seniors should be aware of application deadlines for college financial aid. Here are some tips from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA):

- Check with the financial aid offices of the schools to which you've applied to determine if they require any financial aid forms other than the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

- Familiarize yourself with the FAFSA. Unless you are starting college before July 1, you cannot file the FAFSA until after the first of the year. But you should still take a look at the information it requires and make plans to attend a College Goal Kentucky session near you. Your counselor should have information about College Goal Kentucky.

- Using KHEAA's "Affording Higher Education" and a free online scholarship search, look for any scholarships for which you might qualify. You can find a link to a free search site under the "Paying for College" tab on www.kheaa.com. Make sure you submit your application by the deadline for each scholarship.

- Attend any college fairs and financial aid seminars offered at your high school or in your area. If a company charges a fee for helping with applications, remember that you can do that yourself for free. If you decide to pay for help, make sure the company is reputable by checking with the state Attorney General's office or Better Business Bureau in your area, as well as the area where the firm is located.

Money Tips for Students

Students should be aware of their credit report

Students should be aware that they are building a credit report whenever they take out a loan, even a student loan, according to the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA).

A credit report shows everything about your past and current credit history. It will list every loan you have, to whom you pay it, your loan balance, your credit limit and if you pay early, on time or late.

The report itself does not tell potential lenders if you are a good or bad credit risk. It simply provides the details the lenders can use, along with a credit score, to make that determination.

Other information on your credit report includes:

- Your personal identifying information.
- Any public records such as tax liens, court judgments and bankruptcies.
- A list of any company that has requested a copy of your credit report.
- Any statements you have submitted disputing something in the report.

Your credit report should not show your bank balance, race, religion, income, criminal record or driving record. Nor should it have anything about your health, although medical bills may show up as debt.

To get a copy of your free annual credit report from each of the three credit bureaus, go to annualcreditreport.com.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's grant and scholarship programs. It provides free copies of "It's Money, Baby," a guide to financial literacy, to Kentucky schools and residents upon email request to publications@kheaa.com.

To learn how to plan and prepare for higher education, go to www.gotocollege.ky.gov. For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.kheaa.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602; or call 800-928-8926, ext. 6-7372.

An encouraging word:

One Can Accomplish
Much
By Howard Coop

One morning I received an email that, at first, I thought was spam. My first reaction was to delete it, but I read it. The simple message was very good: "One person CAN make a difference."

About the same time, there was a story in the news media that highlighted that message. In Shelbyville, the school year was coming to an end, and the commencement program for the high school was being planned in accordance with a tradition that spanned many years. One student, a Muslim, was in the graduating class, and that student objected to a part of the program and did not hesitate to let that objection be known. As a result and with a disregard for the desires of other students in the class who apparently remained silent, changes were made in the commencement program to suit the desires of that one student. By standing up, one student in a large class of students made a significant difference, and a tradition of many years was cast aside.

Almost everyday situations are faced in which things are not as desired. Those things need to be changed, and they can be changed. All that is necessary for the change to be made is for one person or a group of persons to stand up, assert themselves, and demand that the necessary change be made.

A long time ago Edmund Burke, an English statesman of the eighteenth century, in a powerful statement, put human responsibility in proper perspective: "The only thing that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men should do nothing." The silent majority seldom accomplishes anything; it usually acquiesces to the vocal minority. As a result, that minority usually accomplishes its purpose.

One person, devoted to a good cause and standing firm upon principles that are right, can accomplish much. But a group of persons, united in a purpose and standing upon those same principles, can accomplish more.

Bible Talk

Our study this month will be on the topic of music in worship. There are only 2 kinds of music: vocal music or instrumental music. Are both authorized by God for worship services?

Vocal Music- The first kind of music in the world was vocal music, when humans used their voices to sing unto the Lord. Many verses in the N.T. teach and authorize singing in our worship. "Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord." Col.3:16. Also, "Speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord" Eph.5:19. And consider this text: "By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name." Heb.13:15. Here are more texts you can reference: Matt.26:30, Acts 16:25, Rom.15:9, 1 Cor.14:15, 26, Heb.2:12, and Jam.5:13. It is very clear that God desires that we offer up singing in our worship and praise to him. Clearly, singing is commanded, taught and authorized in the New Testament order of worship.

Instrumental Music- The other kind of music in the world is instrumental music. There is no passage in the N.T. that authorizes the use of mechanical instruments of music in the worship service. People will ask, "What is wrong with instrumental music in worship?" There is no passage of scripture that gives justification or authorization from God for the use of instruments of music to be used in worship to God today. Observe these questions: What is right about instrumental music in worship? Where is the authority from God to use it? Paul said, "Prove all things; hold fast that which is good." 1 Thess.5:21, confer also with Rom.12:2. We must prove what God's will is, not act on presumption, guess work, supposition or assumption. This is why that it is wrong to use instrumental music in the worship services. Citing Ps.150 will not work, because that is an Old Testament command, and we are not under the O.T. cf. Gal.5:1-4, Heb.8:6-13, Matt.17:5. Until we can find a verse that would justify its use, it remains a work of iniquity. We humbly ask that if you know any verse that would authorize instrumental music in worship, drop us a note, we would happy hear from you. Jesus said, "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." Jn.4:24. May we be satisfied to worship the Father as He directs, not what satisfies us and our desires. It is all about pleasing God, and that is done by obeying His will.

We invite you to study and worship with us at the Providence church of Christ.

Rockets lose to Clinton County in season opener

By: Doug Ponder

The Rockcastle County Rockets varsity basketball team lost their first game of the season on Monday night at Clinton Count to the Bulldogs 64-50.

The Rockets kept up with the Bulldogs in the first half, tied 12-12 at the end of the first quarter and only trailing 31-28 at halftime. However, the Bulldogs pulled away from the Rockets in the second half and led 48-34 at the end of the third quarter and put the game away in the fourth quarter for a final score of 64-50.

The Rockets were led in scoring by junior Sam Pensol with 17 points, junior Blake Mullins was next with 13, senior Gage Reynolds got 11, senior Corey McPhetridge scored 7 and senior Tyler Harper got 2.

Head Coach Benny Blanton said that he was pleased with how his team played during the first half of the game and how they stayed close in scoring to a talented Bulldogs team.

"The third quarter was the difference in the game as we got down by as many as 18 points. But we fought hard and got as close as 7 points in the fourth quarter," Blanton said. "Clinton County has a good team and overall I thought we played well. We just had trouble scoring in the third quarter."

The Rockets will play at 7:30 p.m. Friday night at Lincoln County in a doubleheader with the Lady Rockets.

Blanton said the Patriots are ranked first in the 45th district and fourth in the 12th region. He said the Patriots will be another tough test for his squad this early in the season, especially since the game is being played in Stanford.

"They are returning four talented starters from last year that shoot the ball really well," Blanton said. "In order to win we will simply have to play really well and defend really well. It will be another away game too which always is a huge challenge for us as well."

Junior Sam Pensol is shown above playing defense on senior Tyler Harper during Rocket Madness. Pensol led the Rockets in scoring during Monday night's 64-50 loss to the Clinton County Bulldogs. The Rockets will join the Lady Rockets in a double header Friday night when they both travel to Stanford to take on the Lincoln County Patriots. Tip-off for the boys' game is at 7:30 p.m.

Clean used motor oil may also be dropped off at the Rockcastle County Road Department.

If you have any questions, you may call the Rockcastle County Solid Waste Office at 606-256-1902

Junior Amelia Eversole applies the defense to a Lady Cardinal during the Lady Rockets' loss to Wayne County Monday night.

Junior Alaina Coguer looks for an open teammate during Monday night's 65-47 loss to Wayne County. Coguer and freshman Mahala Saylor led the Lady Rockets in scoring with 8 points each.

Sophomore Morgan Renner stops a penetration drive by a Lady Cardinal during Monday night's 65-47 loss to Wayne County. The Lady Rockets travel to Madison Central Thursday (tonight) and will join the Rockets in a double header Friday night when they both travel to Stanford to take on the Lincoln County Lady Patriots. Tip-off is at 6 p.m.

Lake Cumberland striped bass fishing improving

The striped bass in Lake Cumberland haven't had the best of times since repair work began on Wolf Creek Dam several years ago.

The rehabilitation work caused the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to drop Lake Cumberland 40 feet to relieve pressure on the ailing dam. At normal water levels, striped bass had acres and acres of cool, oxygenated water to inhabit. The drawdown reduced that wide open pasture of water in which stripers could feed down to a small paddock.

By late summer and early fall, the available cool, oxygenated water diminished greatly. This stressed the striped bass in the lake, leading to poor growth and the death of some large stripers.

The major repair work concluded this past March and the dire situation is easing. "We had a wet year this year and that extra water in the lake really helped the striped bass," said John Williams, southeastern fisheries district biologist for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "They made it through the rough part of the year with much less stress. I think we are over the hump."

Williams, who oversees the fisheries management of Lake Cumberland, said the body condition and growth rates of the striped bass improved greatly since last year. As a testament to the improved water quality, the fisheries division stocked 686,759 fingerling striped bass in 2013.

"Things are looking up," he said. "The fishing has been good for keeper-sized fish up to 30 inches." Lake Cumberland has a 22-inch minimum size limit with a two fish daily creel limit on striped bass.

Anglers on Lake Cumberland caught stripers up to 15 pounds bottom fishing with live shad in 30 to 65 feet of water earlier this week.

"They are schooled up tight," said Benjy Kinman, deputy commissioner of Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "Most have been catching them downrigging doll flies with a 4- to 5-inch curly-tailed grubs for trailers or bottom fishing on steeper banks."

Doll flies are an old school term for a hair jig with a ball-shaped head. The originals were dressed in polar bear hair, but now manufacturers use craft or deer hair.

Kinman, who conducted striped bass research on the lake for many years, prefers white doll flies over all oth-

Lady Rockets lose to Wayne 65-47 Monday

By: Doug Ponder

The Rockcastle County Lady Rockets varsity basketball team lost their season opener to the Wayne County Lady Cardinals on Monday night 65-47.

The new KHSAA rules concerning "hand check" fouls played a huge factor as the Lady Rockets had a staggering 29 fouls called against them in the game. In the second half, the Lady Cardinals were in "double bonus" in the third quarter. Senior Kayla Reynolds and junior Amelia Eversole both fouled out near the beginning of the fourth quarter.

The Cardinals led the Lady Rockets throughout the game, ahead 18-14 at the end of the first quarter and 38-23 at the half. In the second half, the Cardinals put the game away leading 51-32 at the end of the third quarter and 65-47 at the end of the game.

The Lady Rockets were led in scoring by junior Alaina Coguer and freshman Mahala Saylor who had 8 points each, senior Kayla Reynolds, junior Amelia Eversole and sophomore Morgan Renner were all credited with 6 points each, freshman Emily Payne scored 4, senior Brianna Hansel got 3 and senior Rebekah Ponder, freshman Hope Kelley and sophomore Ashley McKinney all had 2 points each.

Head Coach Chrysti Noble said her team has got to work on scoring more points and running more offensive plays effectively. She also said her players need to adjust to the new "hand check" foul rule.

"We're going to really focus hard on adjusting to the new foul rule so we don't shoot ourselves in the foot by giving the other team free throw opportunities," Noble said. "We also need to pick up our tempo on offense and have more players scoring in double digits during games."

The Lady Rockets will join the Rockets in a double header Friday night when they travel to Stanford to take on the Lincoln County Patriots. Tip-off for the Lady Rockets game is at 6 p.m.

Noble said the Lady Patriots are one of the toughest teams they will face all year as they are ranked number one in the 45th district and number two in the 12th region.

"They won the region championship last year but they graduated five of their seniors, who were their five starters as well. But they will still be just as tough for us this season," Noble said. "The biggest thing we need to do is to handle their defensive pressure and create more scoring opportunities on offense."

RCMS eighth grader Cade Burdette was recently named to the Kentucky Middle School Golf First Team All-State. Burdette has also played on the RCHS varsity golf team for the last three years and has a career average of 76 for 18 holes. He is the son of Jeff and Treena Burdette of Mt. Vernon.

ers. "I like a chartreuse grub for my trailer with a white doll fly," he said. "I also like a pearl trailer."

Creek channels in the major creek arms in the lower lake such as Beaver, Otter and Indian creeks are good places to troll doll flies right now. Areas where the creek channel swings close to the bank or a point are the most productive spots.

Water temperatures are in the high 60s right now, but when the longer, colder nights cool the water a few more degrees, the striped bass move shallower. Casting a 1/2-ounce doll fly or hair jig on points and channel banks produces strikes during this time.

"I always throw a white doll fly, sometimes with a little red thread mixed in with it," Kinman said. "The most important thing is getting the lure in front of their nose."

Just like earlier this weeeek, bottom fishing live shad, alewives or large shiners on points and on channel banks is highly productive in fall and early winter for Lake Cumberland stripers.

"I use a slip-sinker rig for my bottom fishing," said Ryan Oster, assistant director of fisheries for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "I use a lighter leader than most, usually 14- or 17-pound monofilament line. You want your bait off the bottom. Monofilament floats compared to fluorocarbon line and works better in this situation."

Oster also said jump fishing, when striped bass herd schools of shad to the surface and rip through them, will improve with cooler water temperatures. "The water is still a little warm for those bigger stripers to pin the shad against the surface," he said. "There is some jump activity going on now, but it will get better."

A chrome casting spoon is a great choice to cast into the boils of feeding striped bass because you can cast them a long distance. White or chrome saltwater-sized chugger topwater baits work for jump fishing as well.

The striped bass fishery in Lake Cumberland is healing up. The high numbers of medium-sized fish portends excellent fishing in the coming years.

"You'll catch a lot of fish right now and it is just going to get better," Williams said.

Lake Cumberland will return to historic levels in the spring of 2014.

Wet spring means productive fall waterfowl hunting season

The wet spring earlier this year left abundant food for waterfowl to eat this fall. This should make for productive hunting for both duck and goose hunting seasons which opened Thanksgiving Day.

"The waterfowl foods that grow in moist soils did excellent in late summer and came on strong," said Rocky Pritchert, migratory bird coordinator for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "We have really lush growth. It looks like it is going to be a productive waterfowl season across the state."

Pritchert said waterfowl habitat conditions are good overall across Kentucky, but some areas are better than others. "Because of the wet spring, we were not able to get some of our food crops sown on some of the wildlife management areas (WMAs) until late this year," he explained.

Waterfowl hunters need to remember that Cedar Creek Lake and Dix River WMAs in Lincoln County along with J.C. Williams WMA in Nelson County now have earlier closures for the upcoming waterfowl seasons. Hunters must cease hunting and be off these areas by 2 p.m. and may not enter them until 4 a.m.

Current U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service population studies show about 45.6 million ducks in their annual survey area. Mallards are the most numerous ducks at 10.3 million birds.

Migration reports show many mallard ducks just to the north of Kentucky. "We had a good hatch this year and anticipation is high," he said. "The northern breeding duck numbers look really good, a big improvement over last year when drought limited duck reproduction somewhat."

Kentucky deer hunters, including Pritchert, report seeing many wood ducks this year while hunting. "Their plumage is looking good this year," Pritchert said. "The wood ducks are really colorful. They are common in central and west Kentucky."

Eastern Kentucky is home to many black ducks which find Kentucky's habitat and climate hospitable. "We are the second largest harvest state in the Mississippi Flyway for black ducks," Pritchert said. "They are more common in eastern Kentucky than other parts of the state."

Resident Canada goose numbers in Kentucky remain stable after good reproduction this past spring. Hunters can find them from the Mississippi River in the west to Pike County's Breaks Canyon in the east.

Smaller waters such as farm ponds, rivers and large creeks offer excellent Canada goose hunting opportunities.

"You've got to go and hunt," Pritchert said. "You can't hunt waterfowl from behind a desk."

Duck season closes Jan. 26 while goose seasons including Canada goose, white-fronted goose, brant and snow goose close Jan. 31. Hunters must have a valid Kentucky hunting license, Kentucky waterfowl permit and Federal waterfowl permit, commonly called a duck stamp, to hunt waterfowl.

For more information on waterfowl hunting, pick up a copy of the 2013-2014 Kentucky Hunting Guide for Waterfowl available wherever hunting licenses are sold. You may also download a printable version from the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife website at fw.ky.gov.

The RAKB Community Mission team will also read the Christmas Story and give out shoebox gifts at Mt. Vernon Elementary School this Saturday from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. However, Pope said any child in the county can come to the event as it is not designed specifically for Mt. Vernon children only.

Pope went on to say that she is glad to serve with the Community Mission Team as they are a group of loving and compassionate individuals who want to minister to people outside the walls of churches.

"We want to show the unconditional love of Jesus by meeting the physical and spiritual needs of folks in need," Pope said. "We are thankful and privileged to be able to make a small difference in a child's life or their family member's life during Christmas. That is what it's all about for us."

After removing the small bag of suspected meth from the pocket watch, Jones tried to put the bag inside his dog's mouth. Officers then attempted to apprehend Jones and while resisting arrest, he dropped the bag of suspected meth on the ground and tried to crush it with his foot. Once Jones was placed under arrest, officers were able to retrieve the bag of suspected meth for evidence.

Jones was charged with first degree possession of a controlled substance, tampering with physical evidence and resisting arrest. He was lodged at the Rockcastle County Detention Center and later released on a $7,500 unsecured bond.

USDA farm storage loans available

Kentucky USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) State Executive Director John W. McCauley reminds farmers and ranchers that Farm Storage Facility Loans (FSFL) are available through FSA.

Farm Storage Facility Loans are a great investment for producers who are at the mercy of commercial storage facilities," said McCauley. "Many facilities charge premium rates nationwide and sometimes availability is a concern when these facilities are at maximum capacity."

The Farm Service Agency offers low-interest loans to grain producers to build new or upgrade existing storage facilities and permanent drying and handling equipment. Loan opportunities include, but are not limited to:

- New conventional-type cribs or bins, oxygen-limiting and other upright silo-type structures, and flat-type storage structures designed for whole grain storage,
- Perforated floors, safety equipment, quality improvement equipment, electrical equipment and concrete components for a fully functional storage facility,
- Remodeling existing storage facilities to increase storage capacity.

"Producers with on-farm storage facilities have more control when it comes to marketing their crop," said McCauley. "The added control and flexibility allows producers to sell their crop at optimal times when prices are more favorable."

Farm storage facility loans must be approved prior to site preparation, construction purchase or construction, and must be secured by a promissory note and security agreement. The new maximum principal loan amount is $500,000. Participants are required to provide a down payment of 15 percent, with CCC providing a loan for the remaining 85 percent of the net cost of the eligible storage facility and permanent drying and handling equipment.

Additional security is required for poured-cement open-bunker silos, renewable biomass facilities, cold storage facilities, hay barns and for all loans exceeding $50,000. New loan terms of seven, 10 or 12 years are available depending on the amount of the loan. Interest rates for each term rate may be different and are based on the rate which CCC borrows from the Treasury Department.

Contact your local FSA Office for more information on Farm Storage Facility Loans or visit the web at www.fsa.usda.gov/ky.

Payment Reductions Due to Mandated Sequester

USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) is reminding farmers and ranchers who participate in FSA programs to plan accordingly in FY2014 for automatic spending reductions known as sequestration. The Budget Control Act of 2011 (BCA) mandates that federal agencies implement automatic, annual reductions to discretionary and mandatory spending limits. For mandatory programs, the sequestration rate for FY2014 is 7.2%.

Accordingly, FSA is implementing sequestration for the following programs: Dairy Indemnity Payment Program; Marketing Assistance Loans; Loan Deficiency Payments; Sugar Loans; Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program; Tobacco Transition Payment Program; 2013 Direct and Counter-Cyclical Payments; 2013 Average Crop Revenue Election Program; 2011 and 2012 Supplemental Revenue Assistance Program; Storage, handling; and Economic Adjustment Assistance for upland cotton.

Conservation Reserve Program payments are specifically exempt by statute from sequestration, thus these payments will not be reduced.

These sequester percentages reflect current law estimates; however with the continuing budget uncertainty, Congress still may adjust the exact percentage reduction. Today's announcement intends to help producers plan for the impact of sequestration cuts in

At this time, FSA is required to implement the sequester reductions. Due to the expiration of the Farm Bill on September 30, FSA does not have the flexibility to cover these payment reductions in the same manner as in FY13. FSA will provide notification as early as practicable on the specific payment reductions.

COC Election Ballots

It has been brought to our attention that the COC election ballots were mailed out with a misprint. County committee elections must use a "secret ballot"; therefore, the current ballots cannot be used.

Please destroy the ballot received if you have not yet voted. All completed ballots received by County Offices through December 9 are to be placed in the ballot lockbox. On December 9, they are to be destroyed unopened, and County Offices are to certify to their State Office that the ballots were destroyed.

County Committee elections will be delayed. Look for new ballots to be mailed in mid-December with a new date of ballot return and the deadline for ballot counting.

We apologize for this inconvenience.

For information about FSA programs, visit your county USDA Service Center or go to www.fsa.usda.gov/.

Mamaw's Kitchen

By Regina Poynter Hoskins

FRENCH ONION POT ROAST

I had heard neighbor David say that his favorite soup was French Onion. When I decided to make a roast for a summer get-together Will and I were hosting, I wanted it to taste like French Onion soup with roast beef in it. The rest of the party and I thought I succeeded very well.

1 teaspoon each salt and pepper
1 sirloin tip roast or lean chuck, about 3 pounds
2 cans (10 1/2 ounces) condensed French onion soup
1 bag (about 16 ounces) frozen small white onions
1 red onion, thinly sliced
1/4 cup chopped green onions
1/2 cup shredded provolone cheese
1/4 cup shredded Swiss cheese
1/4 cup shredded parmesan cheese
Fresh chopped parsley or chives for garnish, optional
Rub salt and pepper into the pot roast. Put roast, French onion soup, small white onions, the red onions, and the green onions in slow cooker. Cover; cook on LOW for 8 hours, or HIGH for 4 hours. Arrange sliced beef on a platter with the onions covering the slices. Sprinkle the cheeses over the onions. Drizzle some of the juices over cheese. Sprinkle with more chives or some chopped parsley, if desired.

CROCK-ROASTED VEGETABLES

This method is so much easier than roasting vegetables in the oven or on a grill. Just put them in the pot and forget about them until ready to serve.

1 pound small turnips, peeled
2 pounds tiny new potatoes, washed
2 pounds baby peeled carrots
3 or 4 small yellow squash
10 cloves garlic, peeled
6 baby green zucchini
1/2 pound pearl or boiling onions, peeled
3 tablespoon olive oil
1 tablespoon coarse salt
1 teaspoon black pepper
In a large plastic food-storage bag, combine all ingredients. Seal bag and shake to coat all vegetables with the oil, salt, and pepper. Pour into a 5- to 7-quart crock pot. Cover and cook on HIGH for 3 to 4 hours or until carrots are tender when pierced with a fork.
